JAIL TERMS FOR FOUR MEMEBERS OF UK'S HINDUJA FAMILY IN SWITZERLAND

A Swiss court on Friday sentenced four members of the wealthy family to between four and 4 1/2 years in prison for exploiting their domestic workers

GUILTY OF EXPLOITING WORKERS AT SWISS VILLA

The court said the four were guilty of exploiting workers and providing unauthorised employment. Indian-born tycoon Prakash Hinduja, his wife, son and daughter-in-law brought people from India to be employed at their luxurious lakeside villa in Geneva. They paid their staff a pittance and gave them little freedom to leave the house, the prosecution argued | P12

ACCUSED OF 'PROFITING FROM MISERY'

- Prakash and wife Kamal Hinduja each got four years and six months, while their son Ajay and his wife Namrata received four-year terms
- Household staff were paid between 220 and 400 francs a month, far below what they could earn in Switzerland. "They're profiting from the misery of the world," Geneva prosecutor Yves Bertossa argued

HC stays trial court's order on Kejri's bail

Delhi High Court reserves verdict; asks all parties to file submissions by Monday

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@New Delhi

WITH the Delhi High Court on Friday staying a trial court's order to release AAP convenor Arvind Kejriwal on bail, the chief minister will have to stay in Tihar jail till the judge pronounces his order.

Staying the trial court's order, a vacation bench of Justice Sudhir Kumar Jain, reserved his judgment on the Enforcement Directorate's appeal, adding he would pass the order in two-three days, possibly Tuesday. "Till the pronouncement of this order, the operation of the impugned order shall remain stayed," Justice Jain said and asked the parties to file written submissions by June 24.

Additional Solicitor General (ASG) S V Raju, for the ED, argued that the trial court's bail order was perverse as it was contrary to the mandate of Section 45 of the Prevention of Money Laundering Act. "We are not given an opportunity to represent our case in the trial court. When I tried to submit, the trial court said I have to deliver judgment. Be brief," he said.

Senior advocate Vikram Chaudhari, appearing for Kejriwal, raised a preliminary objection to the listing of the matter during vacation because the trial judge had granted bail through a resend order. "What is the justification of approaching the HC," he asked.

Senior advocate Abhishek Manu Singvhi described the ED's approach as deplorable. "The accused cannot be kept indefinitely in jail... It is very unfortunate that the ASG is maligning the judge merely because an adverse order was passed," he said.

Opposing the ASG's argument that he was not given an opportunity to argue, Singhvi said the hearing in the trial court lasted five hours out of which ED took 3.45 hours. "Where is the question of the ED being denied the opportunity to present its case," Singhvi argued.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HOME Minister Dr G Parameshwara on Friday stressed the need for stringent norms for issuing driving licences.

Dr Parameshwara was speaking at The New Indian Express and Hero Motor Corps' week-long 'Ride Safe India' campaign that took off here.

Sharing his experience, he recalled how he failed to clear the driving test during his stay in Adelaide, Australia.

"With more than 15 years of driving experience in India, I could not clear the driving test in Adelaide. I was given a reverse parallel parking test and I failed. I took the test again after proper training and cleared it," Dr Parameshwara said, batting for similar stringent norms here. "I get complaints that those who do not know how to drive get licences easily. We need strict testing norms and only those who clear them should get the licence," he said.

WORLD SEES YOGA AS AGENT OF GOOD: PM

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE world is looking at yoga as a powerful agent of global good, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said on Friday on the occasion of the 10th International Yoga Day. Choosing the Sher-i-Kashmir International Conference Centre on the picturesque banks of Dal Lake in Srinagar to lead the nation in celebrating, Modi said the 'yoga economy' has immense potential for employment generation as there is a growing global demand to learn authentic yoga from India.

"Yoga helps us live in the present moment without the baggage of the past," he noted, while observing that Jammu and Kashmir can benefit by attracting more yoga tourists.

The PM took part in a yoga session, which was delayed by over an hour due to rains. The event was scheduled to be held in the open but had to be shifted indoors due to incessant showers. Unmindful of the rain, scores of students joined the PM in performing various asanas on the occasion.

He expressed gratitude for being present in Jammu and Kashmir, the land of Yog and Sadhna, on International Yoga Day. "The atmosphere, energy and experience from yoga can be felt in Jammu & Kashmir today," he said. After the event, PM Modi interacted with the yoga practitioners.

EC to update voter list in J-K, 3 other states

MUKESH RANJAN @New Delhi

A day after PM Narendra Modi indicated that preparations for Jammu and Kashmir elections were underway, the Election Commission on Friday set the ball rolling for holding the electoral exercise by ordering a special summary revision (SSR) of the electoral rolls in the Union Territory. The poll panel has also ordered updation of electoral rolls in Maharashtra, Haryana, and Jharkhand, where Assembly elections are due this year.

SSR involves reviewing the voter list and unveiling a draft electoral roll. It is usually held prior to polls to ensure the list is as updated as possible. The process involves adding newly eligible voters and removing duplicate and deceased voters, and those who have moved out of the constituency. In identical official communications to the chief electoral officers of the three states and Jammu and Kashmir, the poll panel said the revision exercise would start from July 25 and culminate on August 20. July 1 will be the qualifying date for roll updation. Before the revision exercise, the poll panel would carry out pre-revision activities in the poll-bound states from June 25 to July 24.

The draft rolls would be published on July 25, after which electors can file claims and objections till August 9. The publication of the final electoral roll will be done by August 20.

The Supreme Court had in December last year directed the ECI to hold assembly elections in Jammu and Kashmir by September 30.

MAKE ROADS SAFE WITH TOUGH HELMETS, TOUGHER RULES

TNIE kicks off 'rally for road safety' campaign with Hero

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

PROMOTING road safety and emphasising the crucial role of helmets, which can prevent major traffic injuries – the 12th leading cause of death in the country across all age groups -- The New Indian Express, in collaboration with Hero MotoCorp, on Friday inaugurated the 'Ride Safe India' campaign. The initiative aims to shift the perception of helmets from mere compliance and a legal requirement, to essential life-saving gear that can prevent fatal road incidents.

During the campaign, helmets were distributed to BBMP marshals, police personnel, gig workers and people from across various backgrounds. Beyond distribution, the event included a comprehensive awareness discussion, highlighting how helmets significantly mitigate road risks and save lives.

Need for trauma care centre

National Institute of Mental Health and Neuro Sciences (Nimhans) Director Dr Pratima Murthy highlighted the need for a "trauma registry and trauma care centres" in the city, to monitor and address accident trends effectively, ensuring timely intervention as road accidents contribute a loss of 1.5 to 2.5 percent of India's GDP annually.

Highlighting the statistics, she added that about 60% to 80% of road traffic accident fatalities occur among people in the age group of 19 to 50 years, impacting the most economically active segment of society, with males disproportionately affected, compared to females.

Dr Pratima emphasised that the majority of accidents involve vulnerable road users such as two-wheeler riders, cyclists, and pedestrians, who are at high risk and stressed the critical need for standardised helmet usage to prevent head injuries, noting that only a third of individuals in the city wear helmets that meet safety standards.

In terms of prevention strategies, Dr Pratima advocated comprehensive urban planning, improved road infrastructure, stricter enforcement of traffic laws, robust public education campaigns and called for a coordinated approach involving all stakeholders. She proposed the establishment of a dedicated national agency to oversee and implement road safety initiatives effectively.

Emphasising the importance of wearing a helmet correctly while driving, Additional Commissioner of Transport, J Purushothama said, "Wearing a helmet without fastening the strap is a violation and everyone must fasten the strap to save lives."

DETAILS ABOUT WEEK-LONG ACTIVITY

The TNIE's week-long 'Ride Safe India' campaign was kicked off on Friday. Throughout the week, TNIE will host the road safety initiative at different places in the city, and distribute road safety kits to gig workers, police personnel, and others. As part of the initiative, a bike rally will be flagged off by Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot from Raj Bhavan on Sunday, June 23. The rally will pass through Infantry Road, Vidhana Soudha, KR Circle, Nrupatunga Road, Kasturba Road, MG Road, Cubbon Road and end at the TNIE office on Queen's Road.

WHAT THEY SAID

Some people focus more on avoiding getting caught by the police rather than following traffic rules for their own well-being. Road statistics reveal that 'educated' individuals cause more accidents than the uneducated.

- Dr G Parameshwara, Home Minister

All road injuries and accidents are preventable if traffic rules are followed.

- B Dayananda, Police Commissioner

Start 10 minutes early to reach your destinations, to reduce traffic violations, road-rage and accidents.

- MN Anucheth, Joint Commissioner of Police (Traffic)

Immediate first aid and prompt medical care is the need of the hour to reduce fatalities and minimize the impact of road accidents.

- Dr Pratima Murthy, Director, NIMHANS

In foreign countries, the road infrastructure is good, and along with that people follow traffic rules religiously. If people cultivate strict traffic discipline here as well, we can reduce accidents, injuries and deaths."

- Ramalinga Reddy, Transport Minister

Wearing a helmet without fastening the chin strap is also a violation and everyone must fasten the strap to save lives."

- J Purushothama, Addl Commissioner of Transport, & Director of Karnataka State Road Safety Authority

While each day about 1,000 new vehicles are registered in the city, road width remains the same. We need to invest more on public transport and improve last mile connectivity.

- Rizwan Arshad, Shivajinagar MLA

Train young minds to follow traffic rules, says top cop

ENS @Bengaluru

CITY Police Commissioner B Dayananda highlighted that all road accidents are preventable if traffic rules are followed, and requested the education department to include road safety lessons in the curriculum, for primary and high school students. The syllabus, prepared by experts with suggestions from the police department, is ready to be integrated into educational books, he mentioned.

Dayananda emphasised that the high frequency of traffic violations and accidents in the city underscores the preventable nature of each road accident and the injury, if traffic rules are adhered to. He stressed the importance of educating young individuals about the significance of obeying traffic rules, to cultivate a responsible generation.

The senior officer explained that the lessons encompass a wide range of topics on road safety and traffic regulations, such as pedestrian rules, the significance of wearing helmets and seat belts, understanding traffic signals, and the risks associated with speeding. He highlighted that the city police have proactively made a detailed syllabus centred on road safety to educate students about traffic rules and safe behaviour on the roads.

Adding to the same, Joint Commissioner of Police (Traffic) MN Anucheth said that road accidents have been reduced by 10% due to the combined efforts of traffic police, NHAI, Public Works Department, BBMP and other authorities. "Public support is crucial for more progress. They need to ensure that they follow traffic rules strictly, wear helmets and fasten their seat belts," he added. He also noted that majority of the road accidents can be avoided if people plan their day, and head out in advance.

Data reveals accidents by 'educated' high, says HM

"THE mindset of the people is that they think how not to get caught by police instead of following traffic rules. According to data, the number of road accidents caused by learned people is high. We have to raise awareness on traffic rules and road safety in schools and colleges," the home minister said.

Dr Parameshwara, who flagged off a bike rally, hailed The New Indian Express for organising the 'Ride Safe India' campaign aimed at raising awareness on traffic rules and the need for wearing helmets while riding.

Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy, Bengaluru City Police Commissioner B Dayananda, Joint Commissioner of Police (Traffic) Anucheth MN, NIMHANS Director Dr Pratima Murthy, Additional Commissioner of Transport and Director of Karnataka State Road Safety Authority J Purushothama, The New Indian Express Karnataka's Senior General Manager P Suresh Kumar, Deputy Resident Editor Nirad G Mudur and Assistant Resident Editor Ramu Patil distributed road safety kits to gig workers, bike taxi riders, BBMP marshals and the police.

Cow strays onto Kalkere Lake walkway, electrocuted

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

A ground-level electrical switchboard on the walkway of the BBMP-managed Kalkere Lake electrocuted a three-year-old cow around 6.30pm on Friday. The cow had strayed into the lake area on its own.

Due to intermittent rain since afternoon, there were hardly any walkers around the lake, that is frequented by an average of 800 walkers daily. The 100-acre lake near Ramamurthy Nagar is surrounded by the walkway, which stretches to over 5km. The walkway, which is just 10 feet from the lake, has numerous plants around it.

Conservationist Sathish Poojari told TNIE: "The incident happened at the entrance of the walking path. It could have happened to any visitor. It is the culmination of many years of poor maintenance by BBMP. I have repeatedly requested them to manage it properly, but it fell on deaf ears."

The cow had strayed near the lake as there was no fencing, Poojari added. "The owner was alerted about the incident after the cow fell at the spot, and he came rushing here." Bharath, whose farmer father owns the cow, said, "Home Guards deployed by BBMP tried to use sticks to goad the cow to get up, but even they started suffering electric shocks and stopped."

Bescom officials switched off power supply, but the cow died within half an hour, he added.

A senior BBMP lake official laid the blame completely on the horticulture department. "The park is maintained by them. They had illegally installed pumpsets to water plants and were drawing power from a switch box installed on the ground," he said.

The UTP numbers were given on Friday, with Pavithra getting UTP 6024. Among the 17 persons arrested in the case, including 47-year-old Darshan Thoogudeepa, Pavithra is the lone woman accused. She was kept in the women's quarantine cell. Meanwhile, the other 11 accused are lodged in the quarantine cell for male prisoners. They underwent a routine medical checkup.

Pavithra, accused number 1, who ran Red Carpet boutique and led a lavish life in a posh house on Kenchanahalli Road in RR Nagar, found it difficult to spend the night in jail, and reportedly did not sleep. She reportedly awoke at 5am and went for a walk in the barracks.

Meanwhile, Darshan, D Dhanaraj alias Raju, V Vinay, both from RR Nagar, and S Pradosh, 40, from JP Road in Girinagar, are undergoing intense grilling by police. Their custody ends on Saturday, and it is unlikely they will be remanded in police custody again. All four accused were questioned separately. Police are trying to find the source of Rs 37 lakh that was recovered from Darshan's residence, and Rs 3 lakh from his wife Vijayalakshmi's flat on Outer Ring Road in Banashankari.

It is said that Darshan had taken monetary help from his friend to manage police and lawyers, and pay those who would surrender after disposing of the body. He allegedly gave the money to make sure his name did not come up in the case, and sought help from politicians and others to help him. Officers are finding out details of people whom Darshan was in touch with, post the murder.

Police are also in search of two mobile phones in the storm water drain. Renukaswamy's mobile, which was reportedly thrown into the drain, contains crucial evidence. Accused Raghavendra, who kidnapped Renukaswamy from Chitradurga, is also said to have thrown his phone into the drain.

BBMP SENDS NOTICE TO PATTANAGERE JAYANNA

BBMP's Revenue department has sent a notice to Pattanagere Jayanna on whose plot of land in RR Nagar, S Renukaswamy was allegedly murdered last week. The land came to the department's notice following the murder case. Revenue officials say the revenue inspector served notice to Jayanna personally, and sought documents related to the land from him. "The land is now in BBMP limits and whatever taxes are applicable from 2009, will be collected as per Palike rules," said Arun Kumar, Assistant Revenue Officer, Kengeri Sub-Division, BBMP.

FREEDOM FROM PARKING WOES

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE BBMP inaugurated the long-awaited multi-level parking facility at Freedom Park in Gandhinagar on Friday. The 24x7 parking facility has been built at a cost of Rs 79 crore and can accommodate 600 four-wheelers and 750 two-wheelers.

Speaking after the inauguration, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said that one more similar facility will be constructed inside the city limits.

"This is one of the best parking systems in corporation limits. It is in the vicinity of Vidhana Soudha and the Karnataka High Court. People should make use of the facility. We have banned parking in a few areas in and around Gandhinagar as people found it difficult to move due to haphazard parking and also the traffic. We will also replicate this facility in another place within the corporation's limits," Shivakumar, who also holds the Bengaluru Development portfolio, said.

According to informed sources, the traffic police have banned parking within a 1-km radius of the new parking facility.

According to BBMP officials, the operation and maintenance contract for the parking complex has been handed over to Prince Royal Parking Solutions, AR Constructions, and Omnitec Systems India Pvt Ltd for a lease period of 10 years. The Palike would get Rs 1.50 crore annually, and there would be an increase of 10% in the fee annually.

The multi-level parking facility has reserved parking for women and the specially-abled. Apart from this, there are automatic number plate recognition (ANPR) cameras at entry and exit points for face capture for better security and vigilance.

To keep a check on pollution inside the facility, an automatic air ventilation system has been installed which will remove the polluted air through pipes and bring in fresh air into the complex through another pipe.

HC verdict today on single judge order in BTC case

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court's division bench will deliver its verdict on Saturday on an appeal filed by the state government against the interim order of the single judge permitting Bengaluru Turf Club (BTC) to conduct on-course and off-course racing and betting activities.

The division bench of Chief Justice NV Anjaria and Justice KV Aravind reserved the order after hearing the arguments of the government and petitioners.

On June 18, the single judge stayed the government's order rejecting the application filed by BTC seeking licence to conduct races and betting activities from June to August. The single judge directed the government to permit BTC to conduct all on-course and off-course racing and betting activities, adhering to terms and conditions.

While passing the interim order subject to the final outcome of petitions, the single judge stated that the government could monitor, supervise and regulate racing and betting activities of BTC.

Man arrested for torturing 3-yr-old stepdaughter

V VELAYUDHAM @Kolar

A case of a three-year-old girl allegedly tortured by her stepfather with burning cigarettes has been reported from Tipu Nagar in Gouribidanur.

The police arrested the accused, Amjad, under the POCSO Act on Friday.

Chikkaballapur SP DL Nagesh told TNIE that based on a complaint by SG Anwar, grandfather of the victim, Gouribidanur police arrested Amjad. In his complaint, Anwar, who hails from Bidarahalli in Bengaluru, stated that he has three daughters and a son. His third daughter, Zarina Taj, married a man from Srinivasapura and has two daughters from him. Later, she married another man from Bengaluru and gave birth to the victim, Nagesh said.

Ten months ago, Zarina married (third marriage) Amjad alias Ashu, 40, a truck driver. Zarina moved to his house along with her three daughters. She went to Anwar's house with her three-year-old daughter for Bakrid. After Anwar noticed burns on the child's face and other parts of her body, he immediately got her admitted to Bowring Hospital.

Amjad used to torture the child as she was not his daughter and Zarina did not pay much attention to him because of her, Nagesh said.

The 146th State-Level Single Window Clearance Committee (SLSWCC), chaired by Minister for Large and Medium Industries MB Patil, approved 64 projects valued at Rs 3,587.67 crore on Friday. These projects are expected to generate employment for approximately 13,896 people across the state

CONG, BJP SPAR OVER GOVT HIRING BCG TO FIX FINANCES

Vijayendra terms the decision outrageous; MB Patil says BSY, Bommai engaged firm too during their tenure

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Congress government's decision to hire Boston Consulting Group (BCG) for a whopping Rs 9.5 crore for six months to oversee the state's finances has triggered a political controversy.

With Opposition BJP taking strong exception to the decision, the ruling Congress hit back stating that even Prime Minister Narendra Modi-led NDA government had hired BCG to prepare its 'Vision Document 2047'.

BJP state president BY Vijayendra on Thursday termed the state government's move outrageous. "Outrageous decision by the Siddaramaiah government to hire a foreign consultant to oversee our state's finances. This is akin to handing over the reins to the East India Company," he posted on 'X'.

Reacting to this, Industries Minister MB Patil said BCG is a prestigious firm with a global presence. The state government has availed its services for many years."The BJP should first question why PM Modi appointed BCG to prepare Vision Document 2047. Baseless allegations like this don't deserve any attention," he posted on 'X'.

Patil told reporters that BCG has been hired in a transparent manner by inviting tenders. "When BS Yediyurappa and Basavaraj Bommai were CMs, they engaged the firm. We too have hired the firm for its guidance on financial matters," he said, defending the government's decision. Patil said Vijayendra should first do his homework properly before making such statements.

Replying to the allegation that Siddaramaiah government's financial status is in a bad shape owing to the implementation of five guarantee schemes and this led to hiring BCG to help boost its revenues, Patil sought to know if the Modi government too faced a similar situation and hired the firm.

Health and Family Welfare Minister Dinesh Gundurao also criticised the BJP for making it an issue.

This is akin to handing over the reins to the East India Company — BY Vijayendra, BJP state president

Attacking the government, Leader of Opposition R Ashoka on Wednesday posted on 'X': "What is the need for hiring Boston Consulting Group when a self-proclaimed economist like Siddaramaiah is the Chief Minister of the state? Not sure whether it will boost the revenues of the state. But it will definitely boost the revenues of the private consultancy firm at the cost of Karnataka's taxpayers." On Thursday, chairman of Professionals' Congress Praveen Chakravarty criticised the Siddaramaiah government for hiring BCG. "If one wins elections by outsourcing core political functions to external fee charging transactional consultants, then one also governs by outsourcing core policy functions to similar consultants!," he posted on 'X'.

But on Friday, Chakravarty retracted his statement and tendered an apology. "I posted my opinion on the broader culture of outsourcing core political & policy functions to outside consultants with no 'skin in the game'. It's an issue that is debated widely in research circles & my comment was purely academic. In retrospect, I should have been much more sensitive about the context. It was absolutely not intended as a personal criticism of any, let alone my own party's. I have spoken with & expressed my apologies for causing inadvertent harm to the leadership in Karnataka," he said.

MY TAKE

Poor road safety? It's about lacking motoring skills & psychology

NIRAD MUDUR
Deputy Resident Editor, Karnataka
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

THERE is a deadly combination of three factors at play in Namma Bengaluru as far as road safety is concerned.

The factor that is most often blamed is poor roads. It involves poor design, poor quality of roads (even lack of footpaths) and apathetic approach towards road maintenance which allows open potholes and unattended dugouts making motorists vulnerable to them.

The second is poor driving skills. This is a much ignored factor, as is evident from the fact that this segment is able to clear their driving licence tests at the regional transport offices (RTOs) with ease. They are the ones who end up on the roads in control of machines while posing a threat to other motorists and pedestrians — besides to themselves.

The third factor is psychological, which makes the motorist develop a poor attitude towards driving and towards other motorists and pedestrians despite good motoring skills.

All these three factors contribute to motorists violating traffic rules and laws, and what you have is a large number of motorists compromising road safety, making life all that more dangerous to live, whether you are on a bike, inside a car or just walking on the road — or even on a footpath that does not exist.

Motorists as well as a number of experts choose to blame the first factor for the lack of road safety. Poor driving skills and psychological factors are mostly not considered, but they are the ones that are most crucial in making our roads unsafe, even if the quality of roads are extremely poor and lack proper infrastructure.

That poor infrastructure cannot be blamed for every ill about road safety in Bengaluru is clearly evident from the motorists' behaviour not on Bengaluru roads, but on the Bengaluru-Mysuru access-controlled highway, which may have its faults, but is a well-laid road.

The New Indian Express on May 31 reported that over 100 traffic violations were recorded every hour on this highway segment. In the 28 days until May 31, a total of 74,915 traffic violations were captured by 22 cameras installed on both sides of the 118-km stretch. The highest number of violations were by drivers and co-passengers not wearing seat belts (57,057 cases), followed by 10,945 cases of over-speeding, 6,046 cases of lane violations, and 494 cases for using mobile phones while driving — all compromising road safety.

This is purely linked to motorist behaviour, nothing to do with any infrastructure inadequacies that one tends to put the blame on for poor road safety.

Even on congested Bengaluru roads, you will see motorists trying to zip their way ahead of all others, road rage over being overtaken, or over-speeding even on roads that are narrow with pedestrians trying to navigate a footpath-less road. We have a ready recipe for disasters on Bengaluru roads, whether you are driving, riding or just plain walking. That's road safety for you in Bengaluru.

In their zeal to be the first to reach their destinations, motorists fail to understand the basic fact — that if you stay in line, you could reach faster than trying to overtake and cause traffic congestion, and make life hell for all. Bengalureans are all too familiar with the latter scenario.

A close analysis of the three factors mentioned as reasons for Bengaluru's road congestion and compromised road safety will easily uncover the real villains in the act — and it's mainly the poor motoring skills and psychological factors. Answers to why a motorist in Bengaluru is so tempted to violate traffic rules and make public spaces unsafe would then be easier found than by simply putting the blame on poor road infrastructure. It's all in the mind of the motorist. No improvement in road infrastructure will be a solution to this problem if we continue ignoring the last two factors.

Author Foster Kinn, who wrote two non-fictions about his solo motorcycle rides throughout the United States and Canada, states, "The road listens. It believes in you." But in Bengaluru, the motorist needs to listen, watch and think on the road, only then will it take you safely to your destination. Driving and riding is all about reaching a destination while ensuring safety, not maiming or killing someone, and reaching a different destination.

Police did no wrong, will issue notice to Ajeet Bharti, says Dr G

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

HOME Minister G Parameshwara said that Karnataka police who went in mufti to Uttara Pradesh to arrest YouTuber Ajeet Bharti should have informed the local police. He said that sometimes such confusion happens, and Karnataka police did no wrong on their part.

Karnataka police, who had booked Ajeet Bharti in Bengaluru for allegedly making controversial comments against Congress leader and MP Rahul Gandhi, went to his residence without informing the local police.

When asked, Parameshwara said Karnataka police should have informed local police earlier, but did so after they reached Uttar Pradesh. Police there told Karnataka police to issue notice, and not to arrest Bharti without a warrant. "Our police will now issue notice and he (Ajeet Bharti) has to appear here. If he doesn't respond, a warrant will be issued to arrest him," he said.

Soon after, Bharti posted about Karnataka police on social media, and BJP leaders, including those from Karnataka, slammed the state government for sending police to arrest him. They pointed out when many murder and assault cases are happening, it is ridiculous to send police to arrest Bharti.

Cabinet reshuffle on cards?

When asked if there would be a cabinet reshuffle keeping in mind ministers whose constituencies have done badly in the Lok Sabha polls, Parameshwara said the party high command would take a decision.

He said in Karnataka, the Congress hoped to win 15 seats and this message was conveyed by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar to the central leaders, but the result was different. "In spite of having a Congress government in the state, the number of seats is low. A fact-finding committee will analyse what happened, based on which the high command will decide," he said.

SIT takes Prajwal for Mahazar of Hassan MP quarters

BR UDAYA KUMAR @ Hassan: The Special Investigation Team (SIT) brought former Hassan MP Prajwal Revanna to the MP quarters here for spot mahazar, in connection with the alleged sexual assault case registered against him, in Holenarasipur Town police station on Friday. Prajwal allegedly sexually harassed women at the MP quarters, the complaint by the victims states. The SIT officials inspected two bedrooms on the first floor and the kitchen, accompanied by Prajwal, where the latter allegedly carried out the act. The officials led by the CID SP brought Prajwal from the Bengaluru Central Prison, at Parappana Agrahara, on a body warrant amid tight security, to the MP quarters, which is adjacent to the SP's office on RC Road. The SIT officials questioned Prajwal for four-and-half hours. They also deterred Prajwal from approaching mediapersons waiting at the gate. The officials strictly warned him, stating that as an accused in a sensitive case probed by the SIT, he cannot talk to the media at the moment. The SIT officials also stopped Prajwal, when he again tried to speak to the media while boarding the police vehicle to return to Bengaluru. It may be recalled that the SIT had brought one of the victims for spot mahazar to the MP quarters on May 4.

Yoga should be part of everyone's daily life, says health minister

ENS @Bengaluru

THIS year, to make yoga a part of one's daily life, the state government undertook a ten-day-long programme called Yogotsava, said Health and Family Welfare Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao. Speaking at an event to mark the International Yoga Day in the city on Friday, he said Yogotsava was held from June 10-20 in various parts of the city including malls and educational institutions. Yoga should be part of everyone's life, he added.

Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, who too was present, said the world has embraced yoga and it cuts across all religions. The yoga programme is for the health benefit of people and more such events will be held, he added.

Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot recounted Karnataka's achievement in setting a Guinness World Record for Yoga during the 26th National Youth Festival on January 15, 2023. He said the government is dedicated to make the state a leading yoga-literate state in India through the 'Har Ghar Yoga' initiative. The event has solidified India's position as the Guru of Yoga, he added.

The event was organised by AYUSH of and Health and Family Welfare departments.

BJP leaders also organised a yoga camp in the city. At the event, BJP state president BY Vijayendra said yoga should not be a one-day affair. Former deputy chief minister Dr CN Ashwath Narayan was present.

Yoga Day celebrations were also held in different parts of the city. Around 1,000 NCC cadets of five Karnataka Battalion from 20 colleges in Chikkaballapur, 200 soldiers from Madras Engineering Corps of the Indian Army, 120 Jawans and two officers from the Subsidiary Training Center, BSF participated in Yoga sessions led by Isha Hatha Yoga teachers in Bengaluru. Students in various educational institutions in the city and offices of South Western Railways organised events. Premier Air Force units. including Air Force Station Yelahanka, Air Force Station Jalahalli, Command Hospital Air Force Bengaluru, Institute of Aerospace Medicine and Air Force Technical College also joined the event. Over 3000 IAF personnel and their family members, trainees, Agniveervayu (Men and Women) and students had participated.

The Akshar Yoga Kendraa, under the leadership of Yogi Himalayan Siddhaa Akshar, created five new Guinness World Records. Over 3,000 people from different walks of life including members of the Army, NCC, Air Force, police and specially challenged people and children from orphanages, performed seven different yogasanas, including Naukasana (Boat Pose), Kaundinyasana (Sage Kaundinya Asan), Chakrasana (Wheel Posture), Natarajasana (Lord Shiva Pose) and Surya Namaskar (Sun Salutation), at Akshar Yoga Kendra.

BATTLEGROUND CHANNAPATNA

BJP-JDS may field Gowda's kin or Yogeshwara

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister DK Shivakumar hinting that he is keen to contest from the Assembly bypoll from Channapatna has triggered a lot of speculation among leaders of both Congress and BJP-JDS alliance.

It has also spurred Shivakumar's bete noire and Union Minister of Steel and Heavy Industries HD Kumaraswamy into action. Kumaraswamy said he will team up with Union Home Minister Amit Shah to repeat the results of the Bengaluru Rural Lok Sabha, where his brother-in-law Dr CN Manjunath defeated Shivakumar's younger brother DK Suresh.

It is interesting to see if Shah would suggest Kumaraswamy to field a member from his family, including his son Nikhil Kumaraswamy.

Kumaraswamy met Shah on Wednesday and claimed to have discussed Karnataka politics. He told reporters in New Delhi on Friday, "He (Shivakumar) has not gone to Channapatna for the last one-and-a-half years after becoming DCM. Now he is showing compassion for the constituency. Who stopped him from developing Channapatna till now? What is the contribution of Shivakumar's brother as an MP? Time will decide who will be the candidate from our side."

One of the aspirants is BJP MLC CP Yogeshwara, who warned that it will be the end of Shivakumar's political career if he contests from Channapatna.

Shivakumar, who represents Kanakapura now as MLA, said, "People are my strength and only they can decide my political future. I belong to Ramanagara district and I am indebted to them. I have asked people to give me their support and they will decide."

But Shivakumar showing keenness to contest could be his strategy to choose a formidable candidate, political analysts said.

BJP leader S Suresh Kumar said it would amount to wasting national wealth as Kanakapura may witness a bypoll if Shivakumar gets elected from Channapatna. To this, Shivakumar clarified that he as KPCC president will fight the Channapatna bypoll along with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. This can also be read as him indirectly ruling out contesting from Channapatna.

"Shivakumar expected his brother to win the LS polls. Now he could be thinking that they can win the Channapatna bypoll if a formidable candidate is fielded," said Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara.

JDS core committee chairman GT Deve Gowda said Shivakumar is most unlikely to contest from Channapatna. BJP state president BY Vijayendra said the candidate for this particular bypoll will be decided after holding discussions with JDS. "What's the feeling of the people in the constituency is a mystery. They (DK brothers) were under the perception that no one could defeat them in Bengaluru Rural. But we all witnessed the people's mandate," he remarked.

People are my strength and only they can decide my political future. I belong to Ramanagara district and I am indebted to them

HC ALLOWS PROBE AGAINST NADDA, MALVIYA TO CONTINUE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday permitted the state police to continue the investigation against BJP president JP Nadda and IT cell head Amit Malviya without insisting on their personal presence.

Justice Krishna S passed the interim order after hearing a petition filed by Nadda and Malviya, questioning the case registered by Kalaburagi CEN police under provisions of IPC, Representation of People Act and Information Technology Act.

Praveen Kumar Patil, a resident of Harawal village of Jewargi taluk of Kalaburagi district, filed the complaint on May 5, 2024 with CEN police over an animated video. The clip, shared on a social media account of BJP, contained the image of former Prime Minister Manmohan Singh, allegedly aimed at creating enmity between two communities and portraying Congress as giving preferential treatment to Muslims.

The counsel for the petitioners pressed for the interim order to stay the proceedings against the two. However, Additional State Public Prosecutor (ASPP) BN Jagadeesha submitted that the investigation cannot be halted by the court and, at the most, the personal appearance of the petitioners can be dispensed with.

The court observed that the ASPP made a fair submission and that matters require deeper consideration. The investigation is permitted to go on, subject to the condition that the personal presence of the petitioners should not be insisted on, it added.

The petitioners submitted that there was not a whisper in the FIR on how they incited the feeling of enmity between two religious groups. The registration of FIR is illegal and the investigation is liable to be quashed as it is an abuse of process of law, they argued.

Proceedings against Vijayendra stayed

The High Court stayed further proceedings against BJP state president B Y Vijayendra and BJP social media convenor Prashant Makanur in connection with an FIR registered against them over sharing of animated video on the reservation issue on BJP's 'X' account.

The complaint was registered by the flying squad of the Election Commission at the Malleswaram police station in May 2024.

TN hooch toll touches 50; blame game refuses to die

AIADMK MLAs evicted en masse from House; Stalin slams 'drama'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Kallakurichi/Chennai

As the Kallakurichi hooch tragedy toll continues to rise with 50 deaths reported till Friday evening, there was full-blown war of words between the AIADMK and DMK. While all AIADMK members, including Leader of Opposition Edappadi K Palaniswami, were evicted from the Assembly for staging a protest, Chief Minister M K Stalin dismissed it as 'drama' and appealed to the opposition parties not to seek political mileage from the tragedy.

Earlier in the day, replying to call attention motion, the CM told the Assembly on Friday that of the 164 people affected, 117 are receiving treatment as in-patients in various hospitals. "I have the list of deaths that occurred due to illicit liquor under AIADMK regime. But I don't want to do politics," Stalin said.

As soon as the House convened, AIADMK legislators were on their feet seeking the chair's nod to raise the Kallakurichi issue. Palaniswami and other MLAs sat on the floor in front of the Speaker. Eventually, following Speaker Appavu's direction, marshals evicted them. Some MLAs, including deputy leader of the opposition, RB Udhayakumar, were carried outside by them.

Meanwhile, hearing a PIL petition filed by AIADMK seeking a CBI probe, the Madras HC questioned the state government on the action taken to prevent such tragedies after the last such incident in 2023. A bench of Justices D Krishnakumar and K Kumaresh Babu also sought details about government officials who were responsible for the Kallakurichi incident, action taken in last one year, and the number of cases registered across the state.

A fixed deposit of ₹5 lakh will also be done for such children and the amount will be given to them with interest when they turn 18, the CM said

Andhra Pradesh CM N Chandrababu Naidu prays at the steps of the Assembly at Velagapudi on Friday

AS PLEDGED, NAIDU ENTERS ASSEMBLY AS CM AFTER 2 YRS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

ON November 19, 2021, TDP supremo N Chandrababu Naidu had vowed to enter the Assembly only after becoming the Chief Minister of Andhra Pradesh. On Friday, the 74-year-old stepped in the Andhra Pradesh Legislative Assembly as Chief Minister with the support of 135 TDP, 21 JSP and 8 BJP MLAs.

Naidu, who bowed down and touched the threshold before entering the House after two-and-a-half-years, had walked out of the Assembly in 2021 in protest against the alleged objectionable remarks made by the then ruling YSRC leaders against his family members. Terming the house a 'Kourava Sabha', he had vowed to return to the Assembly only as CM.

Pro-tem Speaker Gorantla Butchaiah Chowdary administered the oath to 172 of the total 175 legislators. The remaining three MLAs (all from TDP) will take oath on Saturday.

While the session began at 9.46 am, YSRC president and former CM YS Jagan Mohan Reddy arrived at 10.17 am. Within a few minutes, he was administered the oath as MLA. Following this, he greeted his fellow legislators and the Leader of the House Chandrababu Naidu with a 'Namaste'. They responded in the same manner.

Jagan, who seemed to be emotional while taking the oath, read out his name as Jagan Mohan. However, he corrected himself and read his full name as YS Jagan Mohan Reddy. Soon after, he greeted the Pro-tem Speaker and left the House.

Varkala Cliff erosion: Tourism ministry steps in

SHAINU MOHAN @T'Puram

WITH the Varkala Cliff — an iconic national geological monument and geo-heritage site — eroding at an alarming rate, the Ministry of Tourism has stepped in, directing the district collector and Geological Survey of India (GSI) to conduct an on-site assessment on Saturday.

Minister of State for Tourism Suresh Gopi will also take part in the site inspection and assessment of the degradation of the cliff.

In the latest collapse, a major portion of the Varkala Cliff caved in near the Edava Beach last Friday, raising safety concerns further.

The heavy rains that lashed the district in the past couple of months have accelerated the pace of erosion of the Varkala Cliff, setting off alarm bells. The decision of the district collector to knock down a portion of the cliff near the Bali Mandapam had invited widespread criticism and prompted the GSI authorities to step in and fight for the conservation of the cliff.

Following directives from the district collector, the Varkala municipality has decided to take steps to remove the unauthorised structures on the cliff, which are a threat to its stability. There are around 250 trade outfits, including restaurants, handicraft shops and other establishments, on the North Cliff. It is learned that 80% of the structures are unauthorised.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

BUDGET NEEDS TO LOOK AT DIRECT TAX CODE AND RATE RESPITE

INDIA'S direct tax collections are on a tear. During the current fiscal year so far, the provisional direct tax revenue grew by an annualised 22.19 percent to ₹5.16 lakh crore from ₹4.2 lakh crore in the corresponding period a year ago. Net of refunds, direct tax collections settled at ₹4.6 lakh crore as against ₹3.8 lakh crore, translating to a 21 percent jump over last year. While corporate income tax collections stood at ₹2.26 lakh crore, the personal income tax haul was higher at ₹2.8 lakh crore. Personal income tax exceeded corporate tax revenues in 2023-24 and is likely to do so in 2024-25 too, going by the interim budget estimates. The trendline shows that individual taxpayers are likely to contribute more to the exchequer in the coming years than corporates, notwithstanding the handsome corporate tax reductions in 2019.

From the government's perspective, this is just how it should be, and they expect personal income taxes to punch in higher than corporate tax collections, whose growth is likely to be 'moderate'. This is despite the significant cut in headline corporate tax rates from 30 percent to 22 percent in 2019 for companies foregoing exemptions and deductions. As for individuals, a reduction in rates remains elusive, though the government in 2020 introduced a new tax regime with altered tax slabs and concessional rates; but first, taxpayers must forego incentives. This caused confusion and as there were few takers, in 2023, the new regime was sweetened with changes including a higher tax rebate limit and a lower surcharge. It remains to be seen whether individuals are willing to part with tax reliefs in lieu of lower rates.

Regardless of whether there is acceptance of the regime, individual taxpayers are hoping for a respite in the Union Budget to be presented next month. There is undeniable frustration among the salaried class and any reduction in rates will alleviate their burden resulting from high inflation and stagnant incomes. The government must also initiate and hasten the process of replacing the existing Income Tax Act with a new Direct Tax Code. Such a move will help increase the tax-to-GDP ratio, reduce compliance costs, lower administrative burden and provide moderate rates to all taxpayers. By reducing ambiguities, it will broaden the tax base.

K'TAKA MUST BALANCE WELFARE WITH GROWTH

A year into its tenure, the Karnataka government is beginning to feel the burden of its successful 'guarantee schemes'. With the Lok Sabha elections done, the Siddaramaiah government has set about raising resources to fund the schemes, which arguably are popular among the 5.10 crore beneficiaries. Having raised stamp duty by 200-500 percent earlier this year, it has now raised sales tax on fuel, making petrol and diesel ₹3 costlier. The fallout is a spike in inflation. There are also hints of an increase in water tariff and bus fares, leading to rumbles of discontent from the taxpaying public. The five guarantees cost the exchequer ₹36,000 crore in 2023-24, and are billed at ₹52,009 crore for the current year. Gruha Lakshmi (₹2,000 to woman head of family), Gruha Jyoti (200 units free power), Shakti (free bus travel for women), Anna Bhagya (10 kg rice per person) and Yuva Nidhi (₹3,000 to unemployed graduates, ₹1,500 to unemployed diploma holders) came as relief for people impoverished by the pandemic. To its credit, the government also cut domestic and commercial power tariffs.

Defending the rate increases, Siddaramaiah admitted that the government needed more funds for the schemes. Taking on a belligerent opposition, which has demanded a rollback of the fuel rate hikes, he argued that the state was finally on par with others. The Shakti scheme is delivering unexpected returns, with road transport corporations registering record revenues of ₹3,930 crore in 2023-24, compared to ₹3,349 crore in 2022-23. Mobility experts also advocate free public transport, which brings environmental, social and economic benefits, and is in vogue in more than 100 cities across 36 countries. Realising that the withdrawal of any scheme would be unacceptable, the government is now looking at generating funds. A private consultant has advised the government to monetise about 25,000 acres of land around Bengaluru; this planned urbanisation is expected to attract substantial investments.

It is all very well for politicians to adopt a welfare ideology, but they must realise that someone has to pay for it. Taxing Priya to keep Pradip's home fires burning has never made economic sense, though it keeps populists in power. The CM, known for his financial skills, will have to balance his pet schemes with visible development if he has to keep both Priya and Pradip happy.

QUICK TAKE

LEARNING FROM TOURIST TAXES

THE Calangute panchayat's decision to impose an entry tax on tourists who do not have hotel reservations could go some way in making one of the busiest and dirtiest beaches in Goa safer and cleaner. This stretch attracts a large number of day tourists and has recorded several cases of drowning over the years. While adopting the measure, the panchayat cited a similar tax in Maharashtra's Mahabaleshwar. Both taxes are a result of the thoughtless tourist's irresponsible behaviour. The other local governments across India that have proposed similar taxes will keenly watch Calangute on how it uses the collected tax to improve the area's infrastructure.

The people's verdict has given Modi 3.0 limited space to manoeuvre. Winds of change are sure to blow across many policy terrains. Even the Finance Commission may not be immune

EATING MY WORDS ON THE FUTURE COURSE OF INDIA

K M CHANDRASEKHAR

Former Cabinet Secretary and author of As Good as My Word: A Memoir

SOURAV ROY

A few weeks ago, I had written on the unstoppable Modi juggernaut and the impotent resistance from the opposition in the form of an INDIA bloc that was splitting at the seams even before it got a chance to demonstrate its ability to fight. I underscored Modi's supreme confidence in his ability to win the battle by himself, with the BJP and the NDA merely applauding from the sidelines.

PM Modi exuded confidence in responding to the motion of thanks for the president's address in the previous session of parliament. Not only would the BJP and the NDA cross past majorities, but the former would win 370 seats out of an NDA tally of 400, he claimed. I felt that the miscalculations of the Congress and their inability to bring together the INDIA bloc could well presage a long period of uninterrupted BJP rule, the break-up of the Congress and the emergence of a Congress-mukt Bharat, the final destination the BJP wishes to reach.

I now have to eat my words. So does Prime Minister Modi, who suddenly finds himself with not even a majority for his party. To form a government, he needed the support of two seasoned warriors with long experience of political fights—sometimes winning, sometimes losing—knowing full well that nothing is static in politics and that today's enemies can become tomorrow's friends. As chief minister and as PM, Modi has never faced a strong opposition. He was convinced that 'Modi ki guarantee' alone would win the election.

He was so self-assured that he asked his officers to prepare a 100-day plan well before the election, so that he could hit the deck running. The expectation was that Modi 3.0 would be a seamless continuation of Modi 2.0, with the PM in a stronger position than ever before. The campaign became a glorification crusade.

Yet, the people chose to pull him back. This will have implications on policy and action. Further action on the Citizenship (Amendment) Act, the National Register of Citizens and the uniform civil code must be carefully considered by the new government and parliament before the next step is taken. India's second-largest community is no longer voiceless; it cannot be bulldozed into submission everywhere.

Significantly, the first file Modi handled after assuming office a third time related to farmers. The farm laws, hastily introduced as part of a "stimulus package" during the pandemic, cannot now be imposed on farmers without discussion within the coalition and with the states and other parties. The sudden imposition of farm laws frightened farmers, who now insist on legal guarantees for enforcing minimum support prices. This is not easy, as MSP covers a wide range of crops and the exchequer will not be able to sustain this burden.

In 2026, the time will come for parliament to look afresh at the question of delimitation of constituencies. If 3.0 had been a mere continuation of 2.0, delimitation would have gone through like a breeze. The current elections have made three changes, which makes this less facile. One, the BJP's presence in the north has declined, while they grew in vote share in the south and the east. Two, within the government, while JD(U) supports delimitation based on population according to the latest census, TDP stands to lose. And three, the government does not have a two-thirds majority and hence cannot push through a constitutional amendment on its own.

The postponed census may have to be redesigned to include a caste census. The 'One Nation, One Election' report of former President Ram Nath Kovind could enter the ranks of government reports gathering dust.

On the economic front, changes will become inevitable. Nirmala Sitharaman's heavily corporate-oriented economic policy—with some sops thrown in for the very poor—will have to be moderated. There will be and should be, more demand-side economics focusing on the middle classes and the bottom half of the pyramid. The finance minister's firm conviction that growth can only trickle down from the top will have to be reviewed. Interestingly, this could lead to higher GDP growth, as increased demand will generate higher capacity utilisation, production, and significant investments from Indian and foreign firms. Besides, higher incomes will mean lower household debt and possibly eliminate a lurking danger to the banking system.

Modi 3.0 should also lead to greater synergy between the Centre and the states. Modi started in 2014 with grand ideas of building 'Team India'. This fell by the wayside. Instead, ministers proclaimed that a BJP-led government is a "double engine" that would get special deals from the Centre, while other states would have to fend for themselves. BJP leaders used this logic even in the recent Odisha assembly elections too.

The Centre will now have to find ways to continue discussions with states on critical issues to design and implement schemes, as successive governments did so effectively in the case of GST. This should also impact the work of the 16th Finance Commission. Chandrababu Naidu has, in the past, been an excellent finance minister. The Finance Commission will be constrained to look at the existing imbalance between the Centre and the states realistically and find ways of balancing them, particularly now that the use of Article 360 to "discipline state financial profligacy" has been rendered impotent by voters.

I also expect significant changes in law enforcement and the judiciary. Perhaps the central agencies will be used with greater discretion. The bulldozers and encounter specialists may have to take a back seat in light of the clear message sent by the people of Uttar Pradesh, Haryana and Punjab. The judiciary, particularly at the lower level, was confused during Modi 2.0 and was subjected to immense political pressure in some cases on which the Supreme Court and high courts commented adversely later. Now the line of command is clearer. The Supreme Court will hopefully prioritise scrutiny of such laws as the Prevention of Money Laundering Act, the laws enacted to emasculate the Delhi government and the vexing issue of Centre-state financial relations.

In short, governance will change. If it does not, there could be early elections.

HOW THE LAW PLAYS CRUCIAL ROLE IN POLLS PAST & FUTURE

PRATIK KANJILAL

For years, the author has been speaking easy to a surprisingly tolerant public

SPEAKEASY

THE runway has been cleared for the prosecution of Arundhati Roy for utterances made 14 years ago, though no one has hit the ignition button yet. And Australian satirist Juice Media's 'Honest Government Ad: India', a YouTube short, has been blocked for highlighting what most foreign coverage of the election did not: that the government had weaponised the law to put critics, including opposition CMs, behind bars. In denial of its decline in parliament, the BJP is signalling that it's back to business as usual.

The most populous democracy is done with its national election. Now, the most powerful democracy is heading for polls in November. Like in India, there is no perceivable wave for or against the ruling dispensation or opposition in the US; neither side has a leader who commands the affections and trust of the majority. The divisive Donald Trump raises anxieties about internal strife among all but his core constituents. Defending champion President Joe Biden has alienated core supporters with his Israel policy. But like the Indian opposition, Democrat voters perceive this poll to be an existential struggle, and they will stand up and be counted.

The law plays a significant role in both elections. The Indian Supreme Court has shelved constitutionally important cases for years and disrespected the old dictum that bail is a right, and jail an exception. The especially important matter of electoral bonds was heard at the last moment, and it looked like a face-saver. The contest in the US promises to be even stranger than the Indian tournament, if such a thing were possible, due to courtroom dramas on both sides.

Biden is weighed down by his son Hunter, who has been convicted of felony for denying that he used controlled substances when he bought a handgun, though he did use hard drugs at the time. Being caught lying is still a serious offence in the US. He will also face a tax evasion case in September, which could end in another felony conviction. In a country where historically, family values have been venerated (even gender identity politics hasn't dismantled it, and Bill Clinton's career ended because of it), a troubled son spells electoral trouble.

Biden's opposite number is the first convicted felon to run for president who could actually win. Trump's first term ended in a transfer-of-power crisis featuring furry wild men, gouts of flame and a Bible. Nevertheless, he stands a decent chance of winning again, and it's completely legal because the US constitution, the world's oldest in written form, is a slim volume that is sparse on the details. It only specifies that the president must have been born in the US, must have lived there for at least 14 years, and must be at least 35 years of age. Its authors did not anticipate that citizens with a criminal record would be within striking distance of the White House, and the document is silent on the issue.

AP

Donald Trump was found guilty on 34 counts in a criminal case, and he still has a decent chance of winning the presidential polls this November. The US Constitution, the world's oldest in a written form, doesn't say anything against a president being a convicted felon

Trump was found guilty in May last year in a case brought by columnist E Jean Carroll, who had accused him of sexual assault. The court found him guilty, but it was a civil trial and Trump only had to pay $5 million. He did not get a felony record, but had to face a defamation case when he pooh-poohed her initial charge. In total, he had to put up over $88 million in damages, mostly for the charge of defamation.

Now, Trump has been found guilty on 34 counts in a criminal case featuring commercial sex and cash skimmed from his balance sheet for a cover-up. The list is long, and it was being read out on air and online with obvious relish: "Count one, guilty; count two, guilty… count 23, guilty… count 31, guilty…" It went on and on and people loved it—even those who would never dream of voting Democrat. It was like the response of the Indian press and social media to the humbling of Smriti Irani and the embarrassment of Kangana Ranaut. Even people on their side of the fence were trying hard to suppress grins. Audiences used to react like this, guiltlessly, to the slap scenes from the Trinity spaghetti Western films in the 1970s but now, we must conceal our little pleasures.

The possibility of constitutional crises is another common thread. Briefly, India seemed to be heading for one before counting day. Manipulated exit polls were predicting numbers which, if they had been true, could have been rejected in states in the south and east. In the US, Trump's sentencing could trigger a crisis, too. While there is no law against a convicted felon being elected president, the felon is required to perform as president after the event. Arvind Kejriwal tried to run his state government from a jail cell till he got bail, but a US president who must operate behind a firewall of secrecy spanning multiple institutions and departments cannot do so.

American constitutional experts fear the possibility of a crisis would urge the court to either not award Trump a sentence, which could be a miscarriage of justice, or suspend its operation until after he finishes his term, if he is elected. That is, POTUS would walk out of the White House directly into the cooler. Presumably, he could be holding the Bible and surrounded by furry men and purifying flames. While Indian politics has been fairly bizarre in the last decade, it has not faced such absurdities. There's some comfort in that.

Rural tragedy

It's terrible to know of more than 40 people dying in Kallakurichi after consuming illicit liquor. This is the second major incident in the state since 2023, when twin hooch tragedies claimed 17 lives in Viluppuram and Chengalpattu districts. It's mostly people living in villages who lose health and money because of this habit. The government should take this matter seriously, act against those involved and safeguard rural families.

V K S Krishnan, Kumbakonam

Stern action

Dereliction of duty on the part of government officials is responsible for the painful hooch tragedy in Kallakurichi. Remaining taciturn about such a horrendous event smacks of some politicians' indifference. Mere lip service would not be enough. Only stern action can put an end to loss of lives due to toxic inebriation.

Debate laws

Ref: New criminal laws must go through parliament again (Jun 22). I am an assistant professor of law and am writing to thank you for the article on the three new criminal laws. I completely agree with the views in it and hope the government agrees to a wider debate and discussion on the issues.

Delhi crisis

For the past few weeks, millions of Delhi residents have been suffering from a severe water crisis. The situation in the national capital can tarnish the country's reputation globally, despite our desire to see India in a leading position. It is the government's responsibility to promptly address such crises, ensuring that citizens do not face difficulties and the pride of India is upheld.

Mediclaim tax

It would be good if the government considered removing GST on Mediclaim insurance premiums. As such, the government itself is offering many hospitalisation covers under social welfare measures. Such a move will boost the health insurance sector.

Exam overhaul

The recent incidents of malpratice during examinations conducted by central agencies have put a question mark on the efficacy of the system administered by these agencies. It is time for a complete overhaul to help the students have a transparent and reliable means for achieving their dreams.

What did the Education Minister take responsibility for yesterday? Can someone also tell me the members of the 'high level committee' investigating the NEET fiasco?

What's NEET-UG examination?

The National Eligibility Entrance Test (NEET), formerly the All India Pre-Medical Test, is the qualifying test for MBBS, BDS and Ayush programmes in government as well as private medical and dental colleges. It is the single national-level undergrad medical entrance exam. After the enactment of NMC Act 2019 in September 2019, NEET-UG became the sole entrance test for admissions to medical colleges in India. It is also the biggest exam in India in terms of number of applicants.

The National Testing Agency

An autonomous agency under the Department of Higher Education of the Ministry of Education, NTA was set up in November 2017 to conduct entrance exam admissions and recruitment. It is responsible for holding national-level entrance exams and fellowships in higher educational institutions related to engineering, medicine, management and pharmacy. The agency is administered by a governing body that includes a chairperson, a secretary and 8 or more officials from different institutes.

More than 1 lakh seats

Total number of seats the aspirants will be contesting for while writing the NEET-UG stands more than 1 lakh, including around 91,927 MBBS and 26,949 BDS seats. The seats have a 50:50 ratio in government and private colleges. NEET 2024 seats are split between All India Quota (15%) and the State Quota.Centralised counselling will fill the 15% All India Quota seats for MBBS and BDS courses. The remaining seats are allotted through state-level counselling.

The current fiasco

As soon as the NEET-UG result was announced on June 4, the National Testing Agency came under attack for various irregularities, inflated ranking and paper leak. From a record 67 students getting the first rank in a first, to allotment of compensatory marks, again a first, to a number of candidates achieving perfect score of 720 out of 720, a first again, put the spotlight firmly on the testing agency. Students and political parties have protested, forcing the education ministry to probe the matter

NEET NOT NEAT, MIRED IN MESS

EXPERTS CALL FOR REVAMP OF EXAM SYSTEM FOR PUBLIC EDUCATION ● SC REFUSES TO PUT OFF COUNSELLING, ISSUES NOTICE TO CENTRE AND NTA

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

AMID nation-wide uproar over NEET-UG exam irregularities involving lives of lakhs of students and agonising parents, the spotlight is sharply on the systematic failure of our institutions to conduct public examinations.

The fallout of the massive irregularities is that aspirants, who were otherwise eligible to get admission into over 50,000 government medical colleges across the country, would find it difficult, if not impossible, now. Thanks to the inflated marks, many bright students would not be able to make the cut.

Despite the National Testing Agency's (NTA) repeated denials that NEET-UG exam paper was not leaked, police in Bihar and Gujarat have registered cases, and arrested a number of people, including an aspirant from Samastipur, who confessed that he got the leaked NEET paper a day before the exam and memorised it.

The scale of the scam has understandably triggered a wave of condemnation not only from students, parents, educationists, medical associations, but from opposition parties too.

While over 30 petitions have been filed in the Supreme Court and various high courts, the demand for re-examination, a CBI probe or an independent investigation has grown.

For angry students and parents, the only way to protest the "unfairness of the system" was to come out on the streets. Protests broke out in almost all the states. Some even came out to demonstrate outside Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan's residence in Delhi.

With Rahul Gandhi taking on the Modi government, Prdahan had to call a hurried press meet on Wednesday to announce that the government is forming a high-powered panel to improve the NTA functioning. His remarks came after his initial clean chit to the NTA.

In the midst of the raging controversy, it's the students who have suffered. While for some it's the end of a dream to become a doctor, for others, the road to success is still far off.

For Akhil Seelam from Bengaluru, who scored 640 on 720 and was ranked 38,000, the chance to get admission in the city is slim now. He is now planning to move to a smaller city and eyeing a not-so-popular college. He said if there were no inflation of ranks, he would have secured a rank in 10,000, enabling him to get a seat easily in the city, where he lives.

"Due to the NTA's arbitrary manner of giving grace marks, my rank has inflated by 340%. This is a rare case scenario for competitive exams," he said.

"Such a low rank will push me out of the city to find a government medical college. I will now have to look at Tier-2 or 3 cities in Karnataka such as Hubbali or Mangaluru," said Seelam, adding that all this will mean an increase in his and his family's expenses.

He said his classmate scored 582 marks, a good score to get into a private or government college in Bengaluru. But this year, he has no chance. "He is now looking at taking a drop year and retaking the exam next year," he added.

Another student, Devika N, said she is also planning a drop year and to prepare for the next attempt, and this despite scoring 550 out of 720.

"With this year's ranks, I would not get a government college seat even if I go to rural areas. We are from a middle-class family and my parents cannot afford a private college. I spent my two years preparing for this, the results were disappointing," said Devika, pointing out that private college fees are unaffordable for them as it costs over Rs. 1 crore.

B Jahnavi from Visakhapatnam, who got 326 marks, demanded the release of the list of 1,563 students who benefitted from the grace marks allocated by the NTA, as well as the release of their OMR sheets. She also insisted that the exam for these 1,563 students, scheduled for June 23, should be conducted by another agency instead of the NTA.

Suprit Mishra and Pritam Patra, both students of Sai International School, Bhubaneswar, have scored 690 and 715 marks out of 720, respectively. The cause for their unhappiness is their ranks. While Mishra's marks placed him in the 5,039-rank, Patra got 265.

"Compared to last year, there is so much rank inflation this time that the 5,039-rank will not get me admission to any AIIMS. There is rank inflation every year considering the increasing number of students appearing for the exam. Going by last year's ranks, 690 marks would have placed me within the 1,500-rank bracket but this year, the same marks have placed me in the 5,000-rank bracket. This will not get me admission to an AIIMS," Mishra said.

Patra too had expected to be in the 100-rank bracket. "Last year, 715 marks would have fetched 19-20 rank. This year it is 265."

V Lalitha from Salem in Tamil Nadu, who completed Class XII in 2022, appeared for NEET in 2023 and secured 446 marks. In her steadfastness to pursue medicine from a reputed government college, she went for coaching for a year and managed to improve her score to 624 this year. However, she said, she could have scored much higher if the first question paper given to her was properly printed.

She said she was not able to see the questions as it was poorly printed. She was given a fresh question paper 30 minutes later, but was not provided additional time. Highlighting how she went for coaching despite her father's meagre earnings as a weaver, she said she could have easily scored 680 if there was no delay with the paper.

A Vignesh Subramanian, who attended the exam in Alagar Public School in Thoothukudi, said he and many others got a different and tougher set of questions compared to others.

Shivaprakash Sosale, Department of Pediatrics, Bangalore Medical College, said parents are panicking, especially for general merit students who expected to secure seats are now being threatened. "Students with ranks in the 10,000-12,000 category would have got a seat here but now that bracket has moved to 3,000-4,000 ranks."

Even as Pardhan said that the government is committed to protecting the rights of the students and planning to rectify the system, experts said, "it is the need of the hour."

Sajith Thomas, a career coach in Thiruvananthapuram, said, "The NEET exam needs to be restructured in such a fashion that the coaching centers don't have an upper hand."

"The concept and the setting of questions need to be continuously altered so that the students are forced to anticipate something different every time. Only by doing this can a level playing field can be arrived at for the coached and non-coached students," he added.

Chennai-based career consultant and educationist, Jayprakash Gandhi, said since the time NEET was introduced, the examination has always been marred by controversies.

"Not even once, the NTA has managed to conduct the exam in a flawless manner. From question paper leak to grace marks allocation to multiple toppers from a single exam centre, several irregularities have come to the fore. The NTA has no right to play with the career of the students."

He added that the Supreme Court should order a thorough probe into the irregularities and suggest alternatives to NEET. "I am shocked to see that students who have failed class XII exams, have scored over 700 marks in NEET. Not only the future of lakhs of students is in danger but this poses a serious threat to our healthcare system," Gandhi said.

Kingpin of paper leak at large as BJP, RJD spar over another accused

Congress workers protest over irregularities in NEET-UG, in Agartala on Friday | PTI

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi/Patna

THE Supreme Court has refused to defer the counselling date, which is to kickstart on July 6, of the NEET-UG 2024 exam, after noting that it is not an "open and shut" process.

The apex court issued notices to the National Testing Agency (NTA), Centre and others seeking their replies after hearing a petition seeking cancellation of the exam over the alleged irregularities.

The NTA, under fire over the lapses in the conduct of NEET and UGC-NET, is gearing up to conduct on Sunday a retest for the medical entrance exam for 1,563 candidates who were earlier awarded grace marks to make up for the loss of time at six centres.

On the political front, RJD leader Tejashwi Yadav on Friday alleged that an attempt was being made to protect the kingpins in the paper leak case.

Demanding immediate cancellation of NEET-UG 2024, Tejashwi said: "The Deputy CM can summon my PA or PS, interrogate him and arrest him if guilty, where is the problem?" asked Tejashwi.

The RJD also shared a photo of another accused, Amit Anand, with deputy chief minister Samrat Choudhary.

Meanwhile, the Economic Offences Unit (EOU) of Bihar police have intensified raids to arrest Sanjeev Mukhiya alias Lutan, said to be the kingpin of an inter-state 'solver gang' suspected to be involved in the NEET-UG question paper leak.

On Friday, a team of EOU officials conducted a raid at Mukhiya's Nagarnausa residence in Nalanda district but he could not be arrested. The raiding team inquired about Mukhiya's whereabouts from the family members and returned to Patna. The EOU is still groping in the dark.

Mukhiya's son Dr Shiv Kumar alias Bittu is already languishing in Beur Central Jail in Patna for his involvement in BPSC TRE 3.0 (Bihar Teacher Recruitment Examination) paper leak case. The EOU officials questioned Shiv, who has done his MBBS from Rishikesh-based medical college in the NEET paper leak case.

Dr Shiv is learnt to have revealed that his father Sanjeev Mukhiya is the brain behind the NEET question paper leak.

Dalai Lama is free to practise his religion and spirituality, says MEA

INDIA on Friday said the Dalai Lama is a "revered religious leader" who is free to conduct his "religious and spiritual activities" in the country, a statement that came after Beijing called the Tibetan spiritual leader a "political exile" and not a "pure religious figure".

"India's position on His Holiness Dalai Lama has been clear and consistent. He is a revered religious leader and deeply respected by people of India. His Holiness is accorded due courtesies and freedom to conduct his religious and spiritual activities,'' said Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal.

The statement came a day after former US Speaker Nancy Pelosi praised the Dalai Lama while criticising Chinese leadership. A US Congressional delegation had an audience with Dalai Lama in Dharamsala.

China had objected to the US delegation visiting Dharamsala. "Its known that the 14th Dalai Lama is not a pure religious figure but a political exile engaged in anti-China separatist activities under the cloak of religion. We urge the US side to adhere to its commitments of recognizing Xizang as a part of China and not support its independence," said the Chinese embassy spokesperson in Delhi.

The US Congressional delegation later met PM Narendra Modi. "Had a very good exchange of views with friends from the US Congress in a delegation led by Michael McCaul. We deeply value the strong bipartisan support in advancing India-US Comprehensive Global Partnership,'' said Modi.

McCaul in his meeting with Modi emphasised importance of India-US strategic partnership. "I told PM Modi that it is in the strategic interest of both the US and India to partner together to ensure democratic countries remain the leaders in producing both the next-generation weapons and technology,'' McCaul said.

The delegation also said that they were aware that Beijing was imprisoning Tibetan activists and called for meaningful autonomy for Tibetan people. The Dalai Lama will visit the US on June 22 where he is to undergo a knee surgery.

ABC documentary shows blatant untruths: India

India on Friday rejected ABC's documentary Spies, Secrets and Threats: How the Modi government targets people overseas. "It contains blatant untruth, is biased, and reflects unprofessional reporting. The documentary appears to serve an agenda to malign India," said MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal.

'French journo's permit was under consideration'

India has refuted French journalist Sebastien Farcis' allegation that he had to leave India after 13 years as his work permit was not renewed. "Farcis is an OCI card holder, and requires approval to carry out journalistic assignments. He had re-applied for permit renewal in May 2024, his case was under consideration," MEA said.

Law to curb cheating in exams comes into effect

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

AMID continuing uproar over the NEET-UG paper leak, the Centre on Friday brought the Public Examinations (Prevention of Unfair Means) Bill, 2024 into effect. It was passed by the Lok Sabha in February this year.

All offences under this Act are cognizable, non-bailable, and non-compoundable. Those found guilty of the offence can be sentenced to jail for 3-5 years.

The law is aimed at curbing paper leaks and checking malpractices in recruitment exams like the Union Public Service Commission, Staff Selection Commission, and entrance tests such as National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test (Undergraduate), Joint Entrance Examination and Common University Entrance Test.

As for the NEET-UG paper leak's kingpin Sanjeev Mukhiya, who is still on the run, the Bihar police has intensified raids to nab him.

On Sunday, a NEET-UG retest window will open for 1,563 students. Six of their total seven centres have been changed by the National Testing Agency (NTA) and admit cards issued to the candidates.

These students were beneficiaries of grace marks because of loss of time.

After it created a national outrage, the compensatory marks were scrapped and a retest option provided with the proviso that the score in the fresh test alone will be considered for those who take it.

The only centre that was not changed is in Chandigarh, where only two students will sit for the retest. Officers of the NTA and the education ministry will be present at the centres.

When asked about the expected turnout for Sunday's retest, an official responded, "Admit cards have been issued to all. We will know the turnout only on Sunday."

'Defer implementation of criminal laws'

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

DAYS after Tamil Nadu Chief Minister MK Stalin wrote to Home Minister Amit Shah on the three new criminal laws, West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Friday urged Prime Minister Narendra Modi to defer the implementation of the statutes, scheduled for July 1.

In a letter to Modi, the TMC chief expressed "grave concern" over the impending implementation of the three laws — The Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNA) 2023, The Bharatiya Sakshya Act (BSA) 2023, and The Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita (BNSS) 2023.

In her letter, Banerjee said the three bills were hurriedly passed in Lok Sabha when 146 MPs were suspended.

"The outgoing government of yours had passed these three critical bills unilaterally, and with absolutely no debate. That day, almost 100 members of the Lok Sabha had been suspended. A total 146 MPs of both the Houses were thrown out of Parliament," Banerjee said.

She said the three bills were passed in an "authoritarian manner" in that "dark hour of democracy".

"I urge your esteemed office now to consider at least a deferment of the implementation date. The reasons are two-fold: ethical and practical," she added. Incidentally, the TMC chief also met senior Congress leader P Chidambaram on Thursday, who was also a part of the parliamentary standing committee that examined the bills and discussed the issue.

Banerjee said significant legislative changes should be placed before the newly elected Parliament for fresh deliberation and scrutiny. "Given the wide-ranging reservations expressed in the public domain regarding the hurriedly passed new laws, fresh parliamentary review of these attempts would demonstrate a commitment to democratic principles... This approach would afford the newly elected people's representatives an opportunity to thoroughly examine the laws," she said.

FLOOD RELIEF

Congress leader Priyanka Gandhi Vadra urged the Assam government to speed up relief and rescue operations for the flood-affected people in the state and also provide compensation to the families of the deceased.

SIT chief says negligence in Rajkot gaming zone fire

Probe team submits 100-page report, additional inquiries continue

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

A Special Investigation Team (SIT) appointed by the Gujarat government to probe the May 25 Rajkot game zone fire incident, which claimed 27 lives, has found negligence on the part of various departments.

The SIT, led by additional DGP Subhash Trivedi, submitted a 100-page report on Friday to minister of state for home Harsh Sanghavi in Gandhinagar. "The negligence of various departments has been uncovered. Four IAS officers and one IPS officer have been questioned. Following the tragedy, the causes of the incident have been identified. A 100-page report has been prepared and submitted to the government. Additional investigation is ongoing," Trivedi said.

"We found lapses on the part of the police, fire department, town planning and road and building department. We have collected relevant evidence about their negligence and drawn the government's attention towards it through our report," he said.

The report has suggested some changes to Section 33 of Gujarat Police Act, which empowers local police to give licences to such game zones. "The SIT has suggested some changes to section 33 of the Gujarat Police Act, under which local police gives premises licence and ticket licence to such recreation facilities. We will not spare the guilty. We are investigating the roles played by senior police and civic officials," Trivedi said.

During a hearing on a suo motu PIL taken up by the Gujarat High Court over the game zone fire, senior advocate Amit Panchal on June 13, citing photos available on social media, informed the bench that the then Rajkot SP, collector, municipal commissioner and district development officer had attended the inaugural ceremony of TRP Game Zone.

Chief Justice Sunita Agarwal had then asked why no action was taken against these senior officials who had attended the opening ceremony of TRP Game Zone.

Trivedi said, "We have already questioned four IAS and one IPS officer who visited the game zone in the past and got themselves clicked there. These officers told the SIT they went there with their family members to celebrate the birthday of one of the officers. It was not the opening event of the game zone as is being claimed."

The SIT will interrogate other IAS and IPS officers if needed before concluding the probe, the officer said. "If found guilty, action will be taken against them." Administrative sources revealed that a fact-finding committee comprising three IAS officers is expected to submit its report within four to five days.

So far, police have arrested five owners of the game zone and six government officials.

Bail to Pune teen accused builder father

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

THE Pune sessions court on Friday granted bail to Vishal Agarwal, the father of a teenager who allegedly ran his Porsche over two IT engineers and killed them in Pune's Kalyani Nagar on May 19.

Vishal, the owner of realty firm Brahma Group, was granted bail in a case where he was booked under section under 75 of Juvenile Justice Act 2015 and relevant sections of the Motor Vehicles Act (MVA) for "failing to do his duty as a guardian." He was arrested on May 21 from Aurangabad.

Advocate Prashant Patil said his client would continue to cooperate in the police probe. "It is his duty to abide by the conditions imposed by the court," Patil said.

The father of the accused teenager is in police custody in the manipulation of blood samples. The teenager's grandfather is in judicial custody following his arrest for allegedly abducting the family driver to force him to take responsibility for the crime on behalf of his minor grandson.

Two IT professionals Anish Awadhiya and Ashwini Costa hailing from Madhya Pradesh were riding a bike and died on the night of May 19 after a Porsche luxury car allegedly driven by the minor accused ploughed into them.

Adhir quits as Bengal Cong chief after poll debacle

SULAGNA SENGUPTA @ Kolkata

ADHIR Ranjan Chowdhury resigned as the West Bengal Pradesh Congress Committee chief on Thursday after a meeting of the state unit, party sources said. There was no official confirmation from the Congress leadership on whether his resignation has been accepted. The resignation has sparked speculation over who would succeed him.

The party meeting was called to review the reasons behind the Congress' poor performance in the state in the recently concluded Lok Sabha elections. After the meeting, Chowdhury said: "I am a temporary state Congress president. A full-time president will be elected soon."

He said since Mallikarjun Kharge became the Congress national president, there has been no state party chief. "You will come to know when the full-time state party chief is appointed," he told the media.

Chowdhury's exit reports emerge a day after the Congress Rajya Sabha member and former Union Finance Minister P Chidambaram, dropped by at the state secretariat Nabanna and had a 35-minute meeting with Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee.

Chowdhury, a 5-time party Lok Sabha MP from Murshidabad's Berhampur constituency, was defeated by the Trinamool Congress' celebrity candidate and former Indian cricketer Yusuf Pathan in the recent parliamentary polls.

Political circles have been abuzz over reports about Chowdhury's differences with the party leadership over the party's ties with the ruling Trinamool. Chowdhury has always been vocal about his views on having an electoral understanding with the CPI(M)-led Left Front. His differences with Kharge also surfaced during the Lok Sabha polls.

Party insiders said the current party Lok Sabha member from Malda-Dakshin Isha Khan Chowdhury, who is Congress' lone Lok Sabha MP from Bengal now, is one of the frontrunners for the top job in the party's Bengal unit.

No invite for Brijmohan for state yoga event

Senior BJP leader Brijmohan Agrawal, an 8-term MLA from Raipur city south seat, has resigned as Chhattisgarh minister after his election to the Lok Sabha from Raipur constituency. A day after he quit, more than his resignation many looked for reasons for his name not being included among the special invitees on occasion of an International Yoga Day state level event in Raipur where CM Vishnu Deo Sai was the chief guest. The names of all six BJP MLAs from Raipur capital were mentioned. Former CM Bhupesh Baghel said that it is an insult to the people of the Raipur LS constituency.

ED raids J'khand land scam suspect, recovers ₹1 cr cash from home

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

THE Enforcement Directorate on Friday raided locations of land dealer Kamlesh Kumar and recovered more than ₹1 crore in cash besides 100 live cartridges. According to ED sources, several other incriminating documents have also been recovered from his Astor Green apartment and other locations in Ranchi.

The raids continued till late in the evening when the report was being filed. Despite being summoned, by the ED, Kamlesh failed to appear before it following which, the raids were conducted, the sources said. The raids are related to the money laundering case linked to the land scam case involving former chief minister Hemant Soren.

Kamlesh is accused of creating fake documents to acquire land worth several crores and has acquired huge property during the past 10 years. The sources revealed that Kamlesh was operating under the protection of many senior officials in the administration and police as well. Apparently, the ED is conducting the raids on inputs given by Shekhar Kushwaha, who was arrested earlier in the case on June 12. Kushwaha was the 22nd accused arrested in the scam.

The probe agency also found Kushwaha's involvement in the purchase and sale of 4.83 acres of land of Gadi Mauja of Bargain with fake documents.

This is not the first time that Kamlesh has come under the radar of investigation agencies. In October 2021 also, he was accused of making attempts to forcibly acquire tribal land in Nagri and grabbing 20.59 acres of land belonging to Central Law University in Kanke and a land piece near the Jumaar river in Ranchi by forgery.

The probe against Soren pertains to an 8.86-acre plot of land in Ranchi that the ED alleged was illegally acquired by him.

WHO WARNS AGAINST FAKE WEIGHT LOSS DRUGS

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

THE World Health Organisation (WHO) has warned about fake versions of popular weight-loss and diabetes medicines, saying these could pose risks to people's health.

The world health body said it had received several reports of fake semaglutide — the active ingredient in Novo Nordisk's Wegovy and Ozempic — in all geographic regions of the world since 2022. Also known as "skinny jab," Ozmpic is used for the treatment of type 2 diabetes.

After the fake medicines were found to be in circulation in many countries, the WHO, in its first official notice Thursday, warned that they could pose a danger to health.

WHO said authorities had seized fake batches of the drug in the UK, Northern Ireland, Brazil and the US.

Drug maker Eli Lilly & Co. has also said it is "deeply concerned" about growing online sales and social media posts involving fake or compounded versions of Tirzepatide, the active ingredient behind its drugs Mounjaro and Zepbound.

It said that off-label use of the medications has gone up, leading to shortages. The company also said these medicines are for severe diseases and not approved for cosmetic weight loss. It was the only "lawful supplier" of those drugs, the firm said.

Eli Lilly & Co also said they do not provide Tirzepatide to compounding pharmacies, wellness centres, or online retailers. It said that these fake versions are "never safe to use."

In its advisory, Dr Yukiko Nakatani, WHO Assistant Director-General for Access to Medicines and Health Products, said, "WHO advises healthcare professionals, regulatory authorities, and the public to be aware of these falsified batches of medicines. We call on stakeholders to stop any usage of suspicious medicines and report to relevant authorities".

The semaglutides, prescribed to people with type 2 diabetes, also reduce the risk of cardiovascular events. Most semaglutide products must be injected under the skin weekly, but they are also available as tablets taken by mouth daily.

According to Dr Rajeev Jayadevan, former president, Indian Medical Association (IMA) Cochin, Ozempic, for which the WHO alert has been issued, has not been officially launched in India yet. "Therefore, it is not available in our country," he said.

SKINNY JAB

The WHO said it has got several reports of fake semaglutide — the active ingredient in Novo Nordisk's Wegovy and Ozempic — across the world since 2022. Also known as 'skinny jab', Ozmpic is used for the treatment of type 2 diabetes.

Rift, over-confidence behind BJP's UP defeat

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

OVER-confidence, lack of coordination among different wings of the party, candidates, MLAs and cadres as well as complacency have emerged as some of the reasons in the initial fact-finding teams of the UP BJP seeking an explanation for the party's dismal show in the Lok Sabah elections. The state BJP leadership had set up 40 'two-member' teams, which are visiting two Lok Sabha constituencies each to ascertain the reasons for the party's dismal performance.

The BJP and its allies performed much below the expectation winning just 36 of 80 seats in UP while the main opposition Samajwadi Party took a formidable jump of 32 seats taking its tally from five of 2019 to 37 in 2024. The Congress, another INDIA alliance partner, improved its tally from one in 2019 to six reclaiming its bastion of Amethi and retaining Rae Bareli.

The feedback collected by the teams has come as an eye-opener for the leadership. At many places, including Saharanpur and Faizabad, the verbal dual among the party workers, candidates and the MLAs in front of the fact-finding team revealed the reality. This infighting led the BJP not only falling much short of its "Mission 80" but also led the around 8% vote share of non-Yadav OBC drift away from the party, which they were supporting since 2014.

In Saharanpur, BJP candidate Raghav Lakhanpal accused a state minister and some workers of acting against the party interest, which led to his defeat by Imran Masood of Congress by 64,000 votes. In fact, the spat between Raghav Lakhanpal and junior minister and Deoband MLA Brijesh Singh revealed the lack of coordination among various wings of BJP as a party.

BJP general secretary GL Shukla and Hardoi MLA Ashish Singh had been sent to Saharanpur to take the feedback on Lakhanpal's defeat. Even when Shukla and others were waiting for others to settle down, supporters of Lakhanpal and Brijesh Singh started shouting slogans against each other. However, senior party leaders present pacified both groups following which the meeting began. Despite his loss, Lakhanpal had taken the lead from the Deoband Assembly segment represented by Brijesh Singh.

Similar scenes were witnessed and similar feedback was received by fact-finding teams in various seats. The common refrain of almost all the defeated candidates was the lack of support by the MLAs.

Another feedback says that the party workers across the state lacked zeal to work on the ground because of reasons like lack of communication.

Another common refrain was over-confidence and complacency among candidates, state leadership that they would sail through as it was an election for the Prime Minister and 'Brand Modi' would sell giving a third term to Narendra Modi. This notion led the candidates and senior leadership ignore the feedback of ground workers.

'8% vote share of non-Yadav OBC drifted away'

During the fact-finding exercise, the feedback collected by the teams has come as an eye-opener for the leadership. The verbal duel among the party workers, candidates and the MLAs in front of the fact-finding team revealed the reality. This infighting led the BJP not only falling much short of its "Mission 80" but also led the around 8% vote share of non-Yadav OBC drifted away from the party.

Plumes of smoke rising from an area on the Israeli side targeted by rockets fired by Lebanon's Hezbollah on Friday | AFP

No let up in tensions along Israel's northern border

JERUSALEM

ISRAEL bombed Gaza on Friday as exchanges of fire and threats over the Lebanon border raised fears of a wider war. Five municipal workers died "during an Israeli bombing" of a garage in Gaza City, said Mahmud Basal, spokesman for the civil defence agency in the Palestinian territory.

In southern Gaza, AFPTV captured an overnight strike on a residential district of Khan Yunis city.

A ball of fire and sparks erupted, followed by grey smoke before residents inspected the damage in the darkness. There were further exchanges of fire across Israel's northern border with Lebanon's powerful Hezbollah movement, and UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres warned that the clashes must not turn Lebanon into "another Gaza".

Increased "bellicose rhetoric" from both sides risked triggering a catastrophe "beyond imagination", he said.

Just before midnight Thursday, Israel's army said it had "successfully intercepted a suspicious aerial target that crossed from Lebanon".

Early Friday, Lebanese official media reported fresh Israeli strikes in the country's south. This came after Hezbollah said it had fired dozens of rockets at an Israeli barracks in northern Israel on Thursday in retaliation for a deadly air strike in south Lebanon.

A Hezbollah operative was killed in that strike, Israel said. The Israeli military said its jets had struck Hezbollah sites and used artillery "to remove threats in multiple areas in southern Lebanon". Hezbollah then said it had carried out a number of attacks on Israeli troops and positions near the border on Friday, including two using drones. Experts are divided on the prospect of a wider war, almost nine months into Israel's campaign to eradicate Iran-backed Hezbollah's ally Hamas, the Palestinian militant group in the Gaza Strip. Exchanges between Hez bollah and Israel have escalated in recent weeks and the Israeli military said Tuesday that plans for an offensive in Lebanon "were approved and validated". AFP

Swiss jail terms for 4 of Hinduja family

GENEVA : A Swiss court handed jail sentences to four members of Britain's richest family on Friday for exploiting Indian staff at their Geneva mansion. The Hindujas — who were not present in court — were acquitted of human trafficking, but convicted on other charges in a stunning verdict for the family whose fortune is estimated at $47 billion. Prakash Hinduja and his wife Kamal Hinduja each got four years and six months, while their son Ajay and his wife Namrata received four-year terms, the presiding judge in Geneva ruled. The cases stem from the family's practice of bringing servants from their native India and included accusations of confiscating their passports once they were flown to Switzerland. Prosecutors argued the Hindujas paid their staff a pittance and gave them little freedom to leave the house. The family denied the allegations, claiming the prosecutors wanted to "do in the Hindujas". The Hindujas reached a confidential out-of-court settlement with the three employees who made the accusations against them. Despite this, the prosecution decided to pursue the case due to the gravity of the charges. Geneva prosecutor Yves Bertossa had requested a custodial sentence of five and a half years against Prakash and Kamal Hinduja. Aged 78 and 75 respectively, both had been absent since the start of the trial for health reasons. In his closing address, the prosecutor accused the family of abusing the "asymmetrical situation" between powerful employer and vulnerable employee to save money. Household staff were paid a salary between 220 and 400 francs a month, far below what they could expect to earn in Switzerland. "They're profiting from the misery of the world," Bertossa told the court. But the Hinduja family's defence lawyers argued that the three plaintiffs received ample benefits, were not kept in isolation and were free to leave the villa. AFP

Putin won't rule out arming North Korea

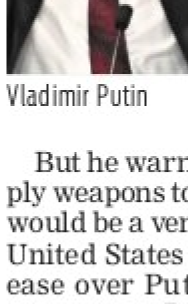
HANOI

VLADIMIR Putin said on Thursday he does not rule out Russia sending arms to isolated North Korea in what Washington called an "incredibly concerning" statement that threatens instability on the divided Korean peninsula.

On a trip to Vietnam following a state visit to Pyongyang where Russia and North Korea signed a mutual defence pact, Putin also warned South Korea not to arm Ukraine.

The Russian president said prospects of Moscow providing weapons to North Korea are repercussions for the West arming Kyiv, which is battling against a Russian invasion now in its third year.

"Those who send these (missiles to Ukraine), think that they are not fighting us, but I said, including in Pyongyang, that we then reserve the right to supply weapons to other regions of the world, with regard to our agreements with the DPRK," Putin said, using the acronym of North Korea's official name. "I do not rule this one out." South Korea on Thursday called Russia's treaty with the North a "grave concern", with a senior official saying Seoul would "reconsider" its policy of not sending arms directly to Ukraine.



Vladimir Putin

Putin brushed off the response, saying "South Korea has nothing to worry about."

But he warned Seoul not to supply weapons to Kyiv, saying: "This would be a very big mistake." The United States expressed deep unease over Putin's threat to send weapons to Pyongyang, warning such action could destabilise the Korean peninsula. "It is incredibly concerning," State Department spokesman Matthew Miller told reporters. "It would destabilise the Korean peninsula, potentially, depending on the type of weapons, and might violate UN Security Council resolutions that Russia itself has supported."

Russia and Vietnam, a close Moscow ally since the Cold War, pledged to deepen ties during Putin's state visit aimed at bolstering alliances.

The Russian leader did not receive as clear a declaration of support in Hanoi as he did in Pyongyang, where he got a rapturous reception. But Vietnamese President To Lam indicated a desire to boost defence cooperation. AFP

Food prices 'slowing pace of disinflation': MPC

Panel decided to leave key policy rates unchanged, retained policy stance of withdrawal of accommodation

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

MAJORITY of the six-member monetary policy committee (MPC) members called for caution on dropping guard against inflation fight given sticky food inflation that is slowing pace of disinflation, as per the minutes of the last MPC meetings released by the RBI on Friday.

In May, headline retail inflation eased to the lowest in a year at 4.75%, from 4.83% in April. It is still 75 bps over the median target of the MPC and the central bank.

"Food inflation is the main factor behind the grudgingly slow pace of disinflation. Recurring and overlapping supply-side shocks continue to play an outsized role in food inflation," said RBI governor Shaktikanta Das at the last MPC meet which in a 4:2 votes decided to leave the key policy rates unchanged as also retained policy stance of withdrawal of accommodation.

Rajiv Ranjan, executive director of the RBI, said while core inflation has softened further, food inflation risks have remained elevated.

> Food inflation is the main factor behind the grudgingly slow pace of disinflation. Recurring and overlapping supply-side shocks continue to play an outsized role in food inflation
>
> Shaktikanta Das, Governor, RBI

The MPC includes governor Das who is the chairman of the panel, deputy governor Michael Debabrata Patra, external members Shashanka Bhide of the National Council of Applied Economic Research, Delhi; Ashima Goyal, ex-Indira Gandhi Institute of Development Research professor; Jayanth R Varma of Indian Institute of Management, Ahmedabad; and Rajiv Ranjan, an executive director of Reserve Bank.

Of them, Das, Patra, Bhide, and Ranjan voted to keep policy repo rate unchanged at 6.5% and to remain focused on withdrawal of accommodation, while Goyal and Varma voted to reduce the policy repo rate by 25 basis points and for a change in the policy stance to neutral from the present withdrawal of accommodation.

Though headline inflation has been sequentially moderating since February, albeit in a narrow range from 5.1% in February to 4.8% in April, food inflation still remains elevated due to persistence of inflation pressures in vegetables, pulses, cereals, and spices.

Accordingly the MPC has forecast CPI inflation for FY25 at 4.5% with Q1 at 4.9%; Q2 at 3.8%; Q3 at 4.6%; and Q4 at 4.5%. Goyal voting for 25 bps rate cut said headline inflation has been around 5% since January while core inflation has been below 4% since December 2023, which means volatile commodity prices, El Nino and heat waves have not been able to reverse the approach to target.

"The headline inflation projection of 4.5% for FY25 gives an average real repo rate of 2% implying that the real repo rate will be above neutral for too long if the repo rate stays unchanged. Falling inflation has raised real repo above unity. This will reduce real growth rate with a lag," she said.

Das asks co-op banks to improve liquidity risks

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

THE Reserve Bank governor Shaktikanta Das has asked urban cooperative banks to improve their credit underwriting standards along with recovery measures to prudently manage liquidity risks.

Addressing the boards of western zone UCBs in Ahamadabad on Friday, Das asked "the boards to ensure proper credit underwriting standards, review and follow up on recovery of non-performing assets as well as prudently manage liquidity risks." In his keynote address he highlighted the importance of robust governance and the role of the board of directors to ensure these along with improving their assurance functions via better and more effective compliance, risk management and internal audit.

Vedanta promoter to sell 2.5% stake in couple of weeks

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

BILLIONAIRE Anil Agarwal-led Vedanta Resources is reportedly planning to sell a 2.5% stake in Indian listed firm Vedanta Ltd through block deals in the next couple of weeks. The promoter group is likely to sell about 9 crore shares to raise around ₹4,000 crore through block deals. The controlling firm of the mining-to-oil conglomerate has been regularly selling shares in the open market in its effort to reduce debt.

When contacted, Vedanta spokesperson, however, denied reports of any stake sale. "Vedanta Resources strongly denies any plans to sell a stake in Vedanta Limited," said Spokesperson, Vedanta Resources Limited.

Earlier in February, the promoters had sold stake in a block deal that was valued at over ₹2,615 crore. Finsider International, which is part of Vedanta Resources, sold more than 6.55 crore Vedanta shares at ₹ 265.14 apiece for ₹1,700 crore.

Since December 2022, Vedanta's promoter shareholding in the firm has declined from nearly 70% to just over 60%. At the end of financial year 2024, Vedanta's promoters held a 61.95% stake in the company. Its net debt rose 25% to ₹56,300 crore as of March 31, while its full-year cash and cash equivalents fell to ₹2,800 crore from ₹6,900 crore a year earlier.

Earlier this week, Vedanta Resources in its annual report said it will seek to cut its debt by $3 billion over the next three years. In the last two years, Vedanta Resources , which had received multiple rating downgrades by rating agencies due to high debt level, has reduced its debt by $3.70 billion.

The stake sale by Vedanta Resources comes at a time when shares of Vedanta Group companies are on rise. The group, whose firms include Vedanta Ltd and Hindustan Zinc Ltd, has seen its combined market valuation grow by ₹2.2 lakh this year. While Vedanta shares have grown by 82.50% in 2024 so far, Hindustan Zinc has rallied by 109%.

On Thursday, the company's board approved the fundraising of ₹1,000 crore by issuing non-convertible debentures through a private placement.

In the last two months, Vedanta's board has already approved raising up to $300 mln through debentures and a further up to $1 billion, although it is yet to decide on the structure and mode of that fundraise.

Vedanta is in the middle of splitting into six different units in a move aimed at shoring up the group's financial performance.

GMR launches training in plane maintenance

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

KEEPING in mind the burgeoning Indian aviation sector and in line with the industry's need of growing the number of skilled manpower, GMR Group, the country's largest airport operator, is set to embark on aircraft maintenance, engineering and training programmes.

The four-year course — approved by aviation regulator DGCA and the European Union Aviation Safety Agency — has a tech tie-up with Airbus. The training for the first batch of 175 students (10 plus 2) with a background in science, is expected to commence in July at a sprawling five-care campus of GMR School of Aviation in Hyderabad.

"Our aim is to make students industry-ready to have the right balance of demand and supply. We are the pioneer in India to offer a combined B1.1 and B2 programme approved by the European Union regulator," said Ashok Gopinath, President and accountable manager, GMR Aero Technic. With the domestic Maintenance, Repair and Overhaul (MRO) sector projected to grow from $1.7 billion in FY22 to $4 billion in FY31, GMR School of Aviation has a distinct advantage of being an MRO-owned institute, said Gopinath. Despite the rapid growth, 50% of MRO services are currently imported primarily due to lack of industry-ready manpower, he added.

"The state-of-the-art classrooms equipped with latest tech and experienced teaching faculty is committed to skill development."

SP Group may get ₹14K cr lifeline from PFC soon

BEN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE board of state-run Power Finance Corporation (PFC) has reportedly approved a credit line of ₹14,000 crore to cash-strapped Shapoorji Pallonji (SP) Group, which has been trying to secure funds to pay due to its bond holders since February, according to a source.

The loan will be secured by the SP Group's 18.37% stake in Tata Sons, the person in the know of the development told TNIE, requesting not to be named. However, this does not mean the deal is done, the source added, saying such a large credit line takes time to get completed.

Both PFC as well as the GP Group didn't respond to calls to confirm the development.

The SP Group has been looking to raise ₹20,000 crore, of which it was seeking about ₹17,000 crore from PFC, to refinance and part-pay a part of its ₹20,000 crore debt pile, a part of which was due in the last week of May, the person said.

SP Group raised these funds initially through Mistry family's investment firm Sterling Investment Corp, which owns a little over 9% in Tata Sons, in 2021 and the 3.5-year-money mostly came in from alternative investment manager Ares SSG and hedge fund Farallon Capital and few Hong Kong funds.

In June 2023, the group entity Goswami Infratech raised ₹14,300 crore via rupee-denominated zero-coupon non-convertible debentures from various investors including Cerberus Capital, Varde Partners, Canyon Capital, Davidson Kempner, and existing lenders Deutsche Bank, Edelweiss special opportunities fund, and Ares SSG.

The person said the PFC board has given the approval after its legal team green-lighted the loan proposal as the articles of association of Tata Sons demand the SP Group.

Footwear industry wants 5% GST rate back on products below ₹1,000

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

AHEAD of the GST Council meeting on Saturday, the footwear industry has written to the finance ministry asking for reverting back to 5% GST on footwear below ₹1,000.

Currently, 12% GST is levied on footwear below ₹1,000 and 18% above ₹1,000. The industry has submitted in the letter that a lower GST rate promotes equality between organised and unorganised players and helps widen the tax network, aligning with the government's efforts to maximize the tax base and compliance.

The industry has also argued that increasing GST rates from 5% to 12% has led to higher product prices, adversely affecting the mass segment that mainly serves lower and middle-class consumers.

GST on footwear below ₹1,000 was earlier taxed at 5%. However, that created an inverted duty structure, whereby the GST on finished goods was lower than the GST on inputs. This resulted in accumulation of input tax credits, which suppliers could claim at the end of the financial year. However, a few goods and services – including some products under footwear category -- are not eligible for refunds under the inverted duty structure.

To correct this anomaly, the GST Council in January 2022 increased the GST rate on footwear below ₹1,000 from 5% to 12%. However, now the footwear industry is feels that the increase in GST on footwear up to ₹1,000 has impeded industry growth, leading to withdrawal from formal channels.

"We advocate for a reduction in GST rates for footwear priced under ₹1,000 to 5%, aligning with the industry's accessibility and affordability goals," says a letter written by Confederation of Indian Footwear Industries to the Finance Minister.

The letter further argues that lowering the tax rate would alleviate financial pressure on manufacturers and retailers, enabling them to operate profitably and compete with international brands.

Meanwhile, the 53rd GST Council Meeting will take place on Saturday in New Delhi. The TNIE has reported earlier that the Council is likely to discuss the retrospective applicability of 28% GST on online gaming, and also deliberate on introducing sunset clause for anti-profiteering provisions.

The Council is likely to issue clarity around GST on corporate guarantee between related parties.

THAILAND

GOVT PROPOSES $102 BILLION BUDGET

Thai government has proposed a 3.753 trillion baht ($102 bn) budget for 2025 fiscal year. The budget is subject to pass its first parliamentary vote on Friday. There will be a series of further votes before it can be enacted. The draft budget bill, aimed at kick-starting the sluggish economy, is expected to pass the first vote as the Pheu Thai-led government commands a majority in the House of Representatives. The budget for the year starting October 1 projects a 7.8% increase in spending and a rise of 24.9% in the budget deficit to 865.7 bn baht from the 2024 fiscal year. The bill will still need to pass second and third readings in the lower house, expected in August, before being sent for senate and royal approval. Prime Minister Srettha Thavisin has said the budget was needed to stimulate a sluggish economy.

JAPAN

VOWS TO ACHIEVE BUDGET SURPLUS NEXT FISCAL YEAR

Japan on Friday pledged to achieve a primary budget surplus by the next fiscal year. It reflects concerns that the exit from the ultra low interest rate environment could boost government debt burden. The renewed commitment to the target was included in Japan's annual economic and fiscal policy guidelines, which were approved at Friday's Cabinet meeting. The government also said it would continue to try to lower the ratio of debt to gross domestic product. Fixing tattered public finances has emerged as a more imminent task for Japan as its central bank in March ended eight years of negative interest rates and other unconventional policy measures that had kept borrowing costs ultra low.

PFRDA to launch new pension scheme with equal mix of equity, debt by August

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE Pension Fund Regulatory and Development Authority (PFRDA) is preparing to introduce a new version of the National Pension Scheme (NPS) that will enable contributors to retain 50% of their investment in equity funds until they reach the age of 45.

This replaces the existing system where the allocation for equity funds decreases gradually starting at age 35. PFRDA chairman Deepak Mohanty briefing the media on Friday during Annual Felicitation Programme for Atal Pension Yojana (APY) in New Delhi said the NPS balance lifecycle scheme could be introduced in July or August. "...The fund will be an additional option in the auto choice where equity allocation can be a maximum of up to 50%, but the tapering would start only after 45 years of age. This will help subscribers accumulate more corpus in their individual retirement fund," said Mohanty.

Mohanty stated that existing NPS participants will have the choice to switch to the new scheme, and all pension funds will provide the updated NPS Balance Lifecycle option to their members. Currently, total assets under management (AUM) of NPS and APY are at ₹12.4 trillion, with PFRDA aiming to achieve ₹15 trillion by FY25. NPS holds the majority of these AUM, with APY representing a smaller portion of ₹38,000 crore. Meanwhile, Mohanty also stressed upon plans to expand NPS outreach via regional rural banks.

Zepto raises $665 million at $3.6 billion valuation

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

QUICK commerce start-up Zepto has raised $665 million at a $3.6 billion valuation, more than double from its last valuation. The company is also ready to go public soon, and plans to hire top talent across engineering, product, growth, finance, operations, and category management.

Also this fund raising comes at a time when other quick commerce start-ups are investing heavily to expand their reach. Flipkart will soon enter the quick commerce space.

This fund raising by Zepto comes just nine months after the company raised $235 million at a $1.4 billion valuation.

Avenir, Lightspeed, and Avra (Anu Hariharan's new fund) joined the company's cap table as new investors, among others. Existing investors Glade Brook, Nexus, and StepStone co-led the round with Goodwater and Lachy Groom doubling down as well, Zepto said.

In terms of business performance, Zepto's GMV has multiplied y-o-y to a base of $1 billion+, and about 75% of the company's stores are fully EBITDA positive as of May 2024. Zepto co-founder and CEO, Aadit Palicha, said, "This dynamic of stores turning profitable faster and faster has enabled Zepto to grow rapidly while simultaneously achieving near EBITDA positivity at a company level. We plan to continue operating with fiscal discipline as we scale from 350 stores to 700 stores by reinvesting the capital generated from mature stores back into the business." Zepto co-founder and CTO, Kaivalya Vohra, said, "The most exciting part about this next phase of Zepto's journey are the major new projects that will 10X customer experience, from launching new categories to expanding initiatives like Zepto Pass."

De Kock slams 38-ball 65 as South Africa survive England scare to get across the line

ICC MEN'S T20 WORLD CUP WEST INDIES & USA 2024 JUNE 1-29 AMERICAN EXPEDITION

DAREN Sammy National Cricket Stadium in St Lucia is supposed to be one of the highest-scoring grounds in this tournament. While batters struggled to score runs at places like New York and Trinidad, Gros Islet has been the batters' paradise. the lowest first innings total this ground had seen in the T20 World Cup before the fixture between England and South Africa was 180 — scored by Scotland against Australia and West Indies versus England. The chasing sides won on both occasions.

So ahead of the Engalnd-South Africa match on Friday, the calculation for whoever batted first was simple: score 200+ runs to have a chance. For that to be achieved, at least one of the top-order batters had to go all out at a brisk pace.

Once England captain Jos Buttler decided to field, there were a few doubts whether the South African opening duo was up for the task. After five fixtures in the ongoing tournament, South African openers had put on just 59 runs together on the board. While the opening duos from Afghanistan and Australia were operating on the 'go big or go home' principle with their batting in the powerplay after five fixtures, Quinton de Kock and Reeza Hendricks were averaging 11.80 as a pair before Friday.

South Africa needed De Kock and Hendricks to get going. A perfect powerplay, preferably without losing a wicket, to set up the foundation on which the likes of Heinrich Klaasen and David Miller could capitalise.

The start was far from ideal as Reece Topley conceded only two runs in the first over of the innings. Once Buttler introduced Moeen Ali, De Kock flexed his muscles. First, he came down the track to smack a boundary and followed it with a slog over long-off which was completely out of reach of a flying Harry Brook. While Topley controlled the flow of runs in his second over, De Kock showed no mercy to Jofra Archer. A fuller delivery from Archer got whipped off the pads for a six. A full delivery followed and De Kock muscled it over midwicket with disdain. With the fourth ball of the over, De Kock just pushed the ball towards the deep third to frustrate the English. Watching this attack might have inspired Hendricks at the other end as the right-hander merrily added one more boundary from that one Archer over.

As many as 21 runs came from the single over from the duo who before the contest had managed the highest opening partnership of 22 in five matches. It was largely because of De Kock's exceptional hitting, that South Africa finally had their maiden 50 partnership of the WC in just the fifth over. By the time the powerplay was done, South Africa were cruising at 10.50 runs per over. De Kock did his job of setting the pace.

South Africa, however, squandered the advantage as some brilliant fielding from England's captain behind the stumps and tricky batting conditions meant, they could post only 163 for six — the lowest first innings score at the venue this World Cup. However, that was enough in the end as the Proteas beat England by seven runs in a close finish. Brief scores: South Africa 163/6 in 20 ovs (DeKock 65, Miller 43; Archer 3/40) bt England 156/6 in 20 ovs (Brook 53; Maharaj 2/25).

Cummins claims first hat-trick of event

NORTH SOUND (ANTIGUA): Premier pacer Pat Cummins grabbed the tournament's first hat-trick and spinner Adam Zampa showcased his artistry to fashion Australia's 28-run win over Bangladesh via the Duckworth Lewis (DLS) method in their Super Eights fixture. If Zampa (2/24) operated with precision in the middle overs, Cummins (3/29) claimed three wickets off successive balls at the back end, as Australia restricted Bangladesh to 140 for eight. Veteran opener David Warner then hit a scintillating half-century as Australia, who were 28 runs ahead of the DLS par score of 72, were declared winners after rain stopped the play for the second time. Brief scores: Bangladesh 140/8 in 20 ovs (Shanto 41, Hridoy 40; Cummins 3/29, Zampa 2/24) lost to Australia 100/2 in 11.2 ovs (Warner 53 n.o; Hossain 2/23) via DLS

Zippy and more dangerous, Spain's revolution to the fore versus Italy

Spain beat Italy 1-0 on Thursday night to secure knockouts berth | AP

IN the MasterChef universe, there is one specific test designed to test the creativity of the contestants. The reinvention test. In this challenge, the participants have to come up with a creative way to shapeshift an original dish (fish and chips, for example) into something else while retaining some of the properties of the prototype. This challenge has, for obvious reasons, developed some notoriety over the years as it has tripped many a contestant.

On Thursday night, Spain monstered this challenge. Possession and patient build-up were eschewed for verticality — a concept whereby the ball is moved from back to front as soon as possible — and pace. Rapid wingers were at the forefront of everything they did and the midfielders were given a degree of freedom to do different things; a) move the ball forward, move into pockets of space and bring in wingers into the game.

For people who grew up watching the Iberians from 2008-2012, this was all a bit too quick. And rather dynamic. Sure, that team has a place in history; any side that won a World Cup and two Euros in four years ought to. But their modus operandi was hogging the ball, recycling possession and waiting for openings. Sometimes, they also played technical midfielders in a false nine role and wingers were generally No. 10s by trade... you get the drift. Death by a 1000 passes. Strangulation. This version of Spain is something else. In Rodri and Pedri they still have players who can hog the ball, receive it in tight spaces and keep it for long periods. But most of the attackers in this side are geared towards progressive passing and doing everything at pace. If the Class of 2008 was playing the sport at 0.8x, this team does it at 1.25x. Death by a 1000 waves.

What's most remarkable about this revolution is the identity of some of the key players in this system — 16-year-old Lamine Yamal and 21-year-old Nico Williams. Both of them have showed a maturity beyond their years. Against the wily Italians, who are the defending champions, on Thursday night, both Yamal and Williams constantly showed for the ball before driving at the defence like seasoned wingers.

From the left wing, Williams created four chances in the 78 minutes he was on, the most by any player in the game. By the time his work was done for the night, Giovanni Di Lorenzo, nine years Williams' senior, was already tired of chasing the Spaniard's shadow.

He started tormenting the Napoli defender as early as the third minute when he drove down the left-hand side before clipping the ball into a no man's land in the Italy box. An on-rushing Pedri could have opened the scoring but his header was within Gianluigi Donnarumma's reach. In past Euros, this particular match (Spain and Italy have faced each other at least once in every edition from 2008) has tended to follow a familiar heartbeat of choreographed passes, patient play and, generally, creative midfielders assuming wide positions to provide notional width.

EYES ON KOHLI, ROHIT

This has not been a good World Cup for batters. Even then, Rohit Sharma and Virat Kohli have underwhelmed. Kohli has 29 runs from four games while Rohit has 76 in the same number of games. Time to get it right at the top.

UNHITTABLE BUMRAH

This isn't a newsflash or anything but Jasprit Bumrah has been unhittable in the US and the West Indies. His eight wickets have come at an economy rate of 3.46. What that has meant is the opposition falling behind the eight ball in the powerplay itself.

HEAD, WARNER AXIS

Even with the advantage of not playing in the US, this is one of the few opening partnerships that has worked in tandem. Against Bangladesh, they finished the chase in the powerplay. They will look to do the same against Fazalhaq Farooqi & Co. For the record, they have combined for 348 runs in 10 games while striking at 150. Magic.

Messi & Co open Copa defence with nervy win

AFP @Atlanta

WORLD champions Argentina opened their bid for back-to-back Copa America titles with a 2-0 win over Canada in front of a crowd of 70,564 at Mercedes-Benz Stadium on Thursday.

Julian Alvarez put Argentina ahead in the 49th minute but a combination of inspired goalkeeping from Canada's Max Crepeau and Lionel Messi's surprising lack of precision in front of goal ensured that the underdogs were in the game until Lautaro Martinez settled the contest in the 88th minute.

Backed by a huge support decked out in light blue and white striped shirts, Argentina fully deserved their victory but Canada, ranked 48th in the world, can take plenty of credit for the way they fought with the 15-time Copa America winners. Alvarez, preferred to Lautaro as Messi's strike partner in attack, had the first opportunity when he charged down an attempted clearance from Ismael Kone and broke away.

But the Manchester City striker took a heavy touch as he bore down on Canada keeper Max Crepeau, who was able to smother the ball. Messi, who became the most capped player in Copa history, making his 35th appearance in what is his seventh tournament, then went close to an opener himself but his angled shot from the left flashed just wide of the far post. The first true save of the game came in the 40th minute, though, when Alexis Mac Allister's stooping header from an Angel Di Maria cross was well dealt with by Crepeau.

Stimac lashes out at AIFF chief

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

DAYS after getting sacked as head coach, Igor Stimac made a scathing attack on All India Football Federation (AIFF) president Kalyan Chaubey and criticised the federation's policies as well. During an interaction on social media that went on for close to two hours, Stimac said that if Indian football wants to prosper, they should get rid of Chaubey. The former head coach also said that there was a complete breakdown of trust between him and the AIFF officials and he was enmeshed in a maze of false promises and lies.

"If Indian football wants to do well, Kalyan must leave," he said. "Kalyan only cares about himself (being popular) — recent media meets shows that. You say he is a politician, no one knows him even in Kolkata. We need someone strong, influential and with backing to lead Indian football."

Stimac said that India needs someone strong and influential to lead the sport. He said that Kalyan's priority is not football and the two never shared a good working relationship. "Kalyan's priority is to increase clicks on social media and get photographed with famous players instead of thinking about the well-being of Indian football," he said.

Stimac also said the people in the football house do not know anything about the sport. "The AIFF people don't know how to run a football house. They only care about power," he said.

Stimac was sacked on Monday after India failed to qualify for the third round in World Cup qualifiers. The coach, however, said that despite his contract running till 2026, he would have gone anyway. "I decided to leave my position even if we qualify for the third round of the World Cup qualifiers because it was impossible for me to keep going this way without proper support," he said, adding that the players knew about this.

Stimac also revealed that the AIFF told him that law about people of Indian origin playing for the country would change. "I had a positive promise about making everything possible for the players of Indian origin law to be changed," he said. That was what the AIFF had insisted on last year as well. "Without accepting that players of Indian origin get involved in representing India nothing will happen," he said.

The former Croatian international, who was part of the 1998 World Cup bronze-winning team, also spoke about the technical committee, which is headed by legendary IM Vijayan. "IM Vijayan was a fantastic player but he is not the person to head the national federation's technical committee," he said.

Stimac also pointed out that there is not much of trust between the FSDL (Football Sports Development Limited) and the AIFF.

Yaremchuk, Ukraine's star in comeback victory

Ukraine's Roman Yaremchuk is filled with joy after his strike on Friday | AFP

ROMAN Yaremchuk scored the winning goal as Ukraine beat Slovakia 2-1 at Euro 2024 on Friday, sparking tears from their players and earning the congratulations of President Volodymyr Zelensky for keeping alive their chances of reaching the knockout rounds.

Ukraine trailed to an early Ivan Schranz goal in Duesseldorf and were in danger of suffering another defeat after losing 3-0 to Romania in their opening game at the tournament. But Mykola Shaparenko equalised shortly after half-time and then set up substitute Yaremchuk to score the winner 10 minutes from time to get Ukraine's campaign in Group E up and running.

Zelensky greeted the win on X, formerly Twitter, by writing "Way to go guys!" He said it showed a country "that takes a punch and overcomes obstacles...This is exactly what Ukraine's National Football Team is doing today." Slovakia knew victory would have taken them through to the knockout stage.

Not enough coaches funded as wrestlers eye medals

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

THE U-17 and U-23 Asian Championships will begin at Amman, Jordan on Saturday with competition in the Greco-Roman style in the former age group. As many as 60 Indian wrestlers (30 each for U-17 and U-23) will vie for medals in the continental event scheduled to end on June 30. The U-17 competitions will be held from Saturday to June 24 while bouts in the U-23 age group will be held from June 27 to 30. Both tournaments will begin with competition in the Greco-Roman category followed by women's wrestling and men's freestyle bouts.

While wrestlers from the country would obviously be aspiring for medals in the event, a few issues might prevent them from achieving their goals as not enough coaches and physiotherapists have been accorded administrative sanction — to be more precise at the cost to the government.

As per the sanction issued by the TOPS division of the Sports Authority of India (SAI), participation of 72 members including 60 wrestlers, 10 coaches and two physiotherapists (both women) was approved at the cost to the government while 19 others including eight coaches, six referees, three physios were approved at no cost to the government.

If officials are to be believed, the presence of 10 coaches may be enough but it may not if three wrestlers from the country have bouts simultaneously on three separate mats. More importantly, wrestlers and officials from different styles are scheduled to reach the venue in batches and they are expected to leave once their competitions are over. This may further see a dip in the strength of coaches impacting the participation of Indian wrestlers in upcoming bouts.

As per the rules of conduct in the UWW events and Olympic Games, a participating wrestler walk onto the mat with his/her coach. Besides, an active wrestler may take on the role of coach if several wrestlers of the same nationality are competing simultaneously but the athlete concerned has to respect the requirements in entirety, even those concerning dress. "This is why the federation has requested three coaches for each style in two age groups taking the total number of coaches to 18. Out of them, only 10 have been approved at the cost to the government. Now, the federation has to fund the remaining coaches," a Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) source told this daily. Apart from managing the affairs on the sidelines of the mat, coaches also oversee activities at the warm-up area and training hall. It can further complicate the situation.

"Besides, only two women physios have been funded by the government. How can these two women physios cater to the needs of 60 wrestlers? Three more physios, whom the WFI has recommended, would come in handy here but now the federation has to bear their cost," added the source.

Overlooking referees

Interestingly, none of the referees' trips was sanctioned at the cost to the government even though a national federation is bound to send the officials. The NSF has to pay a fee of 2000 Swiss francs if it doesn't conform to the rule. As per general regulations for championships and international competitions, the participating Federations can present three referees, if they are qualified and of the authorized category, per mat, for Continental Championships.

GOOD news for paddy farmers. Researchers at the Department of Soil Science and Agricultural Chemistry in the Institute of Agriculture Sciences-Banaras Hindu University (IAS-BHU), Varanasi have developed a consortia of bacteria and fungi, which holds the promise of offering an economical and effective mechanism to paddy farmers for addressing zinc deficiency in their crop.

Zinc (Zn) deficiency is reportedly the most widespread micronutrient disorder in rice worldwide, including India. Its occurrence has increased particularly with the introduction of modern varieties, crop intensification and increased zinc removal.

Almost half of the soils in the world are deficient in zinc. Since cereal grains have inherently low concentrations, growing these on potentially zinc-deficient soils further decreases grain zinc concentration. There is a high degree of correlation between zinc deficiency in soils and in human beings, particularly as zinc is an essential nutrient for human health.

According to the World Health Organization (WHO), about 8,00,000 people die annually due to zinc deficiency, of which 4,50,000 are children under the age of five. About one-third of the world's population suffers from zinc deficiency.

To address the zinc deficiency in rice, the researchers led by Dr Janardan Yadav, Head of the Department of Soil Science and Agricultural Chemistry (IAS-BHU) in Varanasi, isolated and developed a set of 8-10 microorganisms (bacteria and fungi), which have the potential of zinc solubilizing, ultimately leading to the critical micronutrient's better uptake by the paddy plant through its entire life cycle.

By integrating the consortia of the zinc solubilizing bacteria and fungi with nano zinc oxide and applying the resultant product to the paddy seedling or spraying it on the growing crop, Dr Yadav and his team claim to have achieved the same results as is found by applying zinc sulphate fertiliser, but at seven to eight times lesser cost. "The research spanning from the lab to the pot culture at the big net house and finally at the institute's agriculture farm took around 6-7 years and the results are encouraging. The same zinc uptake by the rice plant achievable currently by administration of 25-30 kg zinc sulphate in one hectare area, is now achievable at seven to eight times lesser investment by nano zinc obtained through integration of our consortia of zinc solubilizing bacteria-fungi with one kg of zinc oxide," Dr Yadav told this newspaper.

"In our consortia (whose culture will be deposited with the ICAR-National Bureau of Agriculturally Important Microorganisms in Mau Nath Bhanjan, UP for preservation and future use) we've placed the most effective of the 8-10 bacteria and fungi, whose isolation helped in the effective biosynthesis of the nano zinc oxide (ZnO). Treatments with nano ZnO significantly improved plant height, chlorophyll content (SPAD values), tiller numbers, panicle length, and grain and straw yields. Higher doses and multiple applications of nano ZnO outperformed conventional zinc fertilisers. Zinc fertilisation had minimal impact on soil pH but influenced electrical conductivity (EC) and enhanced soil organic carbon (SOC) levels. Available nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium and zinc levels in post-harvest soil were positively affected, especially with root dipping methods. Enzyme activities (dehydrogenase and alkaline phosphatase) and microbial proliferation in soil increased with higher zinc concentrations and specific application methods," Yadav said while sharing the outcome of the research, involving two successful PhD scholars Pukhrambam Helena Chanu and Jaya Prajapati.

"With the paddy sowing season about to begin, we're also working on creating packets of nano zinc particles with the help of the consortia of the zinc solubilizing microorganisms for distribution, among the paddy farmers of Varanasi and adjoining regions," Yadav informed. The findings have already been reported in the Geomicrobiology Journal and are being submitted for publication in Soil Biology and Biochemistry Journal.

OFFSHORE WIND ENERGY SET FOR TAKE-OFF

POWER POINTS

① 2023 was the second best year ever for the global offshore wind industry

② A total of 75 GW of global offshore wind capacity was in operation by the end of 2023

③ New capacity increased 24% on the previous year, a growth rate the Global Wind Energy Council expects to see continue up to 2030, if the present increase in policy momentum continues

⑤ 2023 was a turbulent year for the offshore wind industry as inflation, increased capital costs, and supply chain constraints created uncertainty in the sector.

⑥ Despite the headwinds experienced in 2023, governments and developers remain committed to developing offshore wind and the global offshore wind market outlook in the medium term remains resolutely promising

S V KRISHNA CHAITANYA
@Chennai

AT COP28 in Dubai, 130 countries adopted a historic target to triple renewable energy by 2030, demonstrating the world's commitment to accelerate the energy transition onto a Paris Agreement trajectory. To meet this level of ambition and stay on a 1.5°C pathway, at least 2 terawatt (TW) of wind energy will be needed by 2030, and 8 TW of wind will be needed by 2050. Projections show that offshore wind can deliver one-third of the required global power sector emissions reductions for a net zero world by 2050. To achieve that, the world will need 380 GW of offshore wind by 2030, and 2,000 GW of offshore wind by 2050, according to IRENA's World Energy Transitions Outlook. The World Bank estimates that there is over 71,000 GW of offshore wind technical potential globally. Much of this growth will come from outside the core historic markets of Europe and China.

Over the last two decades, the sector has achieved remarkable success establishing itself as a mature, competitive, and globally scalable source of energy. Offshore wind provides large scale, reliable power. It addresses the pressing issues of energy resource diversification and enhanced energy security by offering higher capacity factor and large power output. It achieves this without competing for limited land space. For example, the largest offshore wind farm, the 3.6 GW Dogger Bank in the UK, will power 6 million homes annually, once complete.

Acceleration on cards

A Global Offshore Wind Report 2024 released by Global Wind Energy Council (GWEC) reveals that at least 10 countries with substantial offshore wind resources and at the frontier of the energy transition are focused on accelerating the growth. These countries include Japan, South Korea, India and Brazil.

This year, Ocean Energy Pathway, an independent not-for-profit organisation, which works with industry, governments, and civil society organisations to accelerate offshore wind in key global markets through investing in high quality technical assistance, has launched operations in Brazil, Japan and South Korea. Preparations for new teams in OEP's other priority countries, including India and the Philippines, are underway. The report says offshore was poised for truly global growth after 2023 saw the second-highest annual installations as well as key policy developments that set the foundations for accelerated expansion of the industry over the next decade.

In 2023, despite the macroeconomic challenges faced by the sector in some key markets, the wind industry installed 10.8 GW of new offshore wind capacity, taking the global total to 75.2 GW. New capacity increased 24% on the previous year, a growth rate the GWEC expects to see continue up to 2030, if the present increase in policy momentum continues.

Ben Backwell, CEO, GWEC, said: "Installing almost 11 GW of offshore wind is the leading edge of a new wave of offshore wind growth. Policy progress - especially across the Asia-Pacific region and the Americas - has set us on course to regularly install record-breaking capacity annually, and pass the 380 GW target set up by the Global Offshore Wind Alliance. That means offshore wind is on course to achieve the tripling ambition set at COP28 in Dubai.

"Offshore wind is now so much more than a European, Chinese or American story. In the last year, GWEC has seen rapid progress in new markets where the key drivers for offshore wind are now in place - from government commitments to sustainable economic growth, to increased consumer demand and industrial decarbonisation," Backwell said.

India makes a beginning

On June 19, the Union Cabinet approved the development of the first 1 GW offshore wind energy projects in Tamil Nadu and Gujarat. The total cost of these projects is ₹7,453 crore. These projects are expected to produce about 3.72 billion units of renewable electricity annually. This will result in an annual reduction of 2.98 million tonnes of CO2 emissions over 25 years.

India currently ranks fourth globally with over 45 GW installed wind capacity and the country is pushing forward with ambitious goals. By 2030, India plans to achieve a cumulative 140 GW installed wind energy capacity. India also holds significant potential for offshore wind energy.

The Ministry of New and Renewable Energy (MNRE) aims to harness an estimated 70 GW of offshore wind energy capacity off the coasts of Gujarat and Tamil Nadu, highlighting the strategic importance of this resource in India's energy landscape.

The National Offshore Wind Energy Policy', notified in 2015, lays the groundwork for the strategic and comprehensive development of offshore wind projects up to the country's Exclusive Economic Zone, which extends 200 nautical miles from the coastline. Among all the states, Tamil Nadu has huge potential and Chief Minister M K Stalin has also acknowledged the important role the wind energy can play to achieve net-zero pathway. In 2022, GWEC published a report titled "Tamil Nadu Wind Energy Roadmap: Harnessing Net Zero Opportunities" that says Tamil Nadu can deliver 25 GW of new wind capacity.

In early February this year, the Solar Energy Corporation of India (SECI) announced the "Request for Selection" (RFS) for 4 GW of seabed lease off the coast of Tamil Nadu. This development is part of a broader strategic initiative, detailed in 'Strategy Paper for Establishment of Offshore Wind Energy Projects', which comprises a tentative tender trajectory for the award of 37 GW of seabed lease capacity by 2030. The notification of India's Offshore Wind Energy Lease Rules, 2023, further supports this initiative by regulating the allocation of sea blocks to developers, thereby ensuring a structured development pathway.

Challenges

Offshore wind projects demand substantial initial investments and involve three broad stages after the award of tender – study/survey; project construction and commissioning; as well as decommissioning. Project activities may span up to 7-10 years across these stages. This implies market barriers must be eliminated to cut investor risk and encourage healthy participation from leading offshore wind project developers.

To facilitate this, the central government has planned a 10 GW grid infrastructure for offshore wind projects in Tamil Nadu and Gujarat. The state governments have also committed to purchasing power from initial capacities that are commissioned at a tariff of ₹4 per unit. However, this may still make offshore power expensive as compared to onshore wind and solar PV. Hence, innovative financial instruments and policy measures will have to be leveraged to drive the uptake of power generated from offshore wind facilities, experts say.

K'taka biomedical waste management policy needs a relook

XPLAINER

THOUGH Karnataka introduced a dedicated biomedical waste management policy in 2016 and amended it twice, it continues to have gaps that need to be fixed. It is time for the government and the concerned stakeholders to take a fresh look and set it on order.

While officials and contractors were brushing the anomalies aside since the last five years, citizens, activists and NGOs repeatedly pointed them out, forcing forest, environment and ecology department minister Eshwar B Khandre to take note.

In a recent meeting, he pulled up officials from the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) and environment department on the lapses and stressed the need to revise Karnataka's biomedical waste (BMW) management policy.

The problem is there are stringent rules for collection, transportation, disposal and incineration of BMW, yet it continues to be littered in dump yards, road sides and even found in drains.

"There are many unauthorised medical units where BMW is generated. Besides, there are no rules of how to handle and dispose of the BMW generated from homes. Even if the waste is collected separately at homes, it is disposed of as wet waste. The biggest challenge is in handling sanitary pads, bandages and used cotton and syringes, which are disposed of as dry waste," said an official from KSPCB.

Another big gap is to ensure that the full waste generated from each medical unit reaches the assigned waste disposal centre on time. There are instances where the waste is simply dumped in open drains or water bodies. There is also a lack of coordination between the health department and the KSPCB. There is no single window to check the total number of units, the quantity of waste generated, the expansion plan of each hospital or dispensary and even when setting up new units.

"The pace at which the number of hospitals are mushrooming in the state, especially in Bengaluru, the infrastructure to handle the BMW generated is poor. There is a need for a new policy or at least an amendment in the existing one, fixing the gaps and increasing the capacity," admitted the KSPCB official. A standard thumb rule is the generation of 1 kg BMW per bed. The ministry of Environment, Forests and Climate Change uses this formula for all policy calculations. Experts say that this needs to be changed as post-pandemic, the use of sterilisers, gloves, masks etc has been on the rise. Karnataka first brought in the BMW management policy in 2016. It was amended in 2018 and then again in 2019. "We have found many gaps in the management and disposal," noted KSPCB officials.

According to KSPCB data, there are 48,431 health care facilities in the state, of which 8,628 are bedded and 22,216 non-bedded. To manage their waste, various city corporations along with KSPCB's assistance set up 25 BMW treatment and disposal centres.

While KSPCB officials in the head office in Bengaluru maintain that all of them are functioning, the ground reality, according to NGOs and experts, is different. On many occasions, the waste does not reach them; the incinerating machines are shut due to poor maintenance or the unit is closed because of people's protest or staff crunch.

The state generates 77,876 kg of BMW per day from bed and non-bed medical centres per day, of which 66,934 kg is treated each day. Bengaluru alone generates 38,768 kg of BMW per day.

Besides, there are 1,425 veterinary dispensaries and hospitals in the state generating 493 kg of BMW per day.

Recently, Ashish Vidyarthi had his debut as a stand-up comic. The veteran actor shares his love for being a learner and trying out new things

It [stand-up] was not a very conscious decision. I went in for it without knowing much about it. If I had watched a few live stand-up shows in India, I would not have gone for it

– Ashish Vidyarthi, veteran actor

MONIKA MONALISA

THESE days, it might take more than the usual time to describe what veteran actor Ashish Vidyarthi is up to. Enjoying multiple roles such as food vlogger, motivational speaker, and of course, actor, the 59-year-old has debuted as a stand-up comic. His interest in stand-up comedy has led to an Indian tour, and he will be in the city soon for the last leg of the show.

Trying out new things is Vidyarthi's favourite trait about himself. "I like doing a lot of things while I am waiting for something to happen. I am an actor who loves doing amazing roles, but while waiting for amazing roles, I do many other things. I am a speaker, actor, food vlogger, and now a stand-up comic, and each one has its own time to do it. I love to explore more," he says.

However, a few minutes into the conversation, Vidyarthi confesses that with stand-up comedy, he didn't know what he was getting into. "It was not a very conscious decision. I went in for it without knowing much about it. If I had watched a few live stand-up shows in India, I would not have gone for it. I went for it like something you would be foolish enough to do; otherwise, with full knowledge, you wouldn't do it," he says. But Vidyarthi is now enjoying the stand-up stint. "I began with one and a half months of preparation. I just shared the content I created from anecdotes from my life and wrote it in a funny way," he explains.

A regular visitor to the city, Vidyarthi is looking forward to performing two shows in Bengaluru. "I am looking forward to it. The city has an audience I really want to perform for. I am quite excited about it," he says, despite being under the weather.

An avid traveller, Vidyarthi ensures that all his new projects somehow have a travel element in them. His upcoming expedition, Raining Smiles, is also about that. "I always wanted to travel the country and its terrains during the monsoon. So we began the journey in Kanyakumari, and the idea was to vlog the whole day while chasing the monsoon, meeting people, talking to them and eating with them and each evening landing at a cafe or a home and performing a stand up sketch for them. It is my way of returning the love they have given," he explains. The plan is to travel from Kanyakumari all the way up to Kashmir. And again from Kutch to Arunachal Pradesh.

Among all these new interests, Vidyarthi's first love has always been acting. Having been an actor for more than three decades, Vidyarthi has witnessed the evolution of Indian cinema. In these changing times, he shares his philosophy on acting. "I believe scripts might change but storytelling remains the same," he says. "Many might think I am an amazing actor, but this amazing actor needs amazing roles for the magic to happen!"

Vidyarthi is currently looking forward to his upcoming film, Kill, set for July 4 release. An action thriller, it is written and directed by Nikhil Nagesh Bhat and produced by Karan Johar and Guneet Monga.

(Ashish Vidyarthi will be performing at Under Ground Comedy Club and Just Blr on June 28 and 29 respectively. Tickets available on bookmyshow.com)

Janaru, an art festival, explores themes of body politics, gender hierarchies, and more through experimental performance art

Krishnakshi Goswami

POOJA DAS

IT is often said that wounds heal, but scars remain. Similarly, even when memories are suppressed and forgotten, the body remembers. Beru Art and Cultural Foundation is bringing a unique two-day art festival titled Janaru, which explores difficult themes like inappropriate touching and abuse through experimental performance art. "Janaru means people in Kannada. Our effort is to give upcoming artists space to create innovative work," says Dayanand Akilesh J, one of the festival's organisers.

Two performances from the festival uniquely tackle themes of gender, abuse, and social hierarchies that perpetuate everyday violence against women. Bengaluru-based artist Durga Venkatesan will showcase her bold take on the theme of inappropriate touching with an experimental non-verbal performance art piece titled Touchy Topic. "I wanted to work around sexual harassment and inappropriate touching, which I've personally faced," shares Venkatesan, adding, "Coming from Delhi, that fear is drilled into you. I wanted to explore non-verbal communication because it's very difficult to talk about these things, so I wanted to see other modes of expression that people can engage in."

The 60-minute performance is simple yet powerful. Venkatesan will stand motionless, inviting the audience to place white paint fingerprints on her at spots where they have been touched inappropriately. "The preparation is very internal," she explains. "Grounding is essential to keep me from feeling overwhelmed since this is also a piece where you might feel personally invaded. It's about consent and control, knowing that I've given consent to be touched is a statement in itself."

Meanwhile, Krishnakshi Goswami's work intersects theatre, storytelling, and dance, reimagining the acclaimed Northeast poet Easterine Kire's poem The Body is a Map, which explores the connection between the body, gender hierarchies, and personal experiences. "When I was reading many poems by women writers from the Northeast, I became curious about this connection between land and the body. The poem really resonated with me," she explains.

With Kire's consent, she has reimagined the poem with influences from her own experiences. "While working on it, I also let my personal stories come through, connecting with the poem's theme of how the body remembers. I think most women have had experiences of abuse or uncomfortable experiences with their bodies, which relate to gender hierarchies in our societies," says Goswami. The piece features voiceovers and a soundtrack by artist Gillian Avril Kharshiing. The festival will also feature a performance from dancer Siddhhi Pillai, who will reimagine the traditional Bharatanatyam Margam and share the potential for freedom within well-defined structures.

SUPTA BADDHA KONASANA HANDS RAISED BEHIND

(RECLINED BUTTERFLY POSE HANDS RAISED BEHIND)

This is a deeper stretch to Supta Baddha Konasana (Reclined Butterfly Pose), with the addition of the upper body being active. This variation encourages breathing while engaging the arms, shoulders, upper back, chest, rib cage, and upper abdomen. This pose can be a relaxing restorative practice, making it a grounding practice for students who have symptoms related to insomnia. For those who may find this stretch a bit deep for their lower back, a bolster can be used. This practice can be a counter pose or a cooling practice after an intense backbend sequence.

STEPS

- Start in Supta Tadasana (Reclined Mountain Pose) and stay here for a couple of breaths.
- Inhale, bend your knees, and keep the soles of your feet together.
- Keep the outward edges of your feet on the mat. Place the feet 1.5 feet away from the groins.
- Get into the Reclining Bound Angle Pose.
- Breathe, raise your arms, and place them on the floor above the head with the palms facing the ceiling.
- This is Supta Baddha Konasana Hands Raised Behind. Stay here for a couple of breaths.
- Exhale and bring the knees to the floor. Breathe gently and feel the upward extension of the torso and the lateral extension of the inner thighs and groins.
- Place a bolster or yoga block underneath the knees and lower thighs if required.
- After staying in the pose as per capacity, gradually release the legs.
- To release, bring the knees closer. And then release the arms.
- Finally relax in Savasana (Corpse Pose).

BENEFITS

- Increases the flexibility of the upper body.
- Releases muscular fatigue and stress from the pelvic floor.
- Tones and strengthens the tissues and larger muscles.
- Enhances the functioning of the lungs and the heart.
- Lower abdominal and pelvic floor stretches benefit the excretory and urogenital systems.
- Deep stretching of the inner thighs and groins enhances blood circulation.
- Upper body stretch enhances respiratory and cardiac functioning.
- Activates the lymph nodes.
- Helps with deep breathing and addresses issues related to depression, insomnia, or sleeping disorders.
- Stimulates the Root and Sacral Chakras, and balances the Heart Chakra.
- Calms the nervous system.
- It benefits teens and kids, and it can be included in sports yoga.

LIMITATIONS

- If you have undergone knee, ankle, or hip surgery, or have an injury to the groin, pelvis, hips, shoulders, rib cage, wrists, knees, or ankles, or have weak knee joints, ankles, wrists, lower back, are facing pelvic stiffness, or frozen shoulders, avoid this pose.

OBTUSE OBSERVATION

RUBINATIONS

Rubi Chakravarti

Writer, actor and funny girl

I get geared up to write my book(s) every day! My kind publisher (who is also my friend) rather sternly told me that I couldn't be suffering from a writers' block for two straight years! My close friends guffaw getting entertained for free whenever I recount anecdotes of TOD's (The Original Desperados), who are a mix 'n' match of the older leftovers from the Page 3 era to the newer-bees who harangue, threaten and intimidate various PRs to extend them invitations for various high-profile events. As a result I see a healthy mix of people at various arenas (rather than the usual snobs). As a 'people-watcher', I observe (like a fly on the wall), different homosapiens engaged in a social dance of their own, looking covetously at the other, planning on how to further their own agendas. Broadly the invitees or non-invitees can be sectioned into groups: the entitled, the FOMO kings/queens, the pretend-to-be 'nonchalants' and the eager-beavers. There can be sub-groups and further 'subber-groups' (wee! I just coined a new word). It's taken me 25 years to figure this out and truth be told, I am still trying to figure out the social hierarchy! By the time my book hits the stands, I can promise that I will be less restrained!

So one could say all my outside shenanigans are purely for 'research'! But no one told me research would be so much fun! I love eating with smaller groups of people where conversation flows and invariably, the evening unfolds to be raucous and engaging. My favourite 'world-class-Chinese-dining' Hakkasan, was in our city for a small 'dekko'(sounds way better than a pop-up)! Hosted at its sister concern Yauatcha, (Yum-Cha, meaning tea and Dim-sum meaning house), the meal needless to say was superlative! I must admit that I have never had even a couçi-couça meal at any of their outlets. Fresh produce, fabulous cooking techniques and consistency are all hallmarks of a great meal.

Of course, as a true-blue writer I carried my extensive research to the revival of Dum-Pukth cuisine at The Windsor Manor by the legendary chef Ghulam Qureshi, the scion of the even more legendary Imtiaz Qureshi, who has given Dum Pukth many of their inimitable recipes. I was fortunate to dine on the master Imtiaz's table twice before and his take on Awadhi, Lucknowi and NE Frontier cooking was unsurpassable. Since my better half's name was the same as his father, chef took a shine to us and it was great to be pampered by him much to the chagrin of his other fans! The lovely Sabrina Dey has taken charge of the iconic Windsor Manor and it was refreshing to see youth, glamour, charm and intelligence rule the roost at the table!

Ruma Singh, Rajeev Samant, and Manjusha Maheshwari

The lovely Ruma Singh is a dear friend, a former journalist, an oenophile and a member of the London-based Circle of Wine Writers. She played moderator to an insightful conversation with Rajeev Samant Founder/CEO of Sula Wines with a formal wine tasting session and hors-d'oeuvres crafted especially for the wines. The room at The Oberoi was packed to capacity as the discerning audience paid rapt attention to the conversation and the wines… which were truly exceptional, especially the Rasa Cabernet Sauvignon! Wine drinking and appreciation is an elegant custom…

We are coming of age baby!

Ishtaa, a vegetarian restaurant specialising in authentic recipes from generational Telugu kitchens, launched a new outlet in Jayanagar recently. The Hyderabad-based culinary dining experience aims to redefine vegetarian food for patrons. Commenting on the launch in Bengaluru, restauranter Teja Chekuri said, "From the early days of Indian history, vegetarianism has significantly influenced almost all the cuisines of India. Even though the cuisine is diverse across state lines there is always a core vegetarian dish that binds it together. We aim to revive, redefine, and bring back the delicate and nuanced flavours of our traditional recipes that have been passed on through generations."

DHANANJAYA

‘PLAYING KEMPEGOWDA, A VISIONARY, IS INCREDIBLY EXCITING’

...says Dhananjaya as he discusses the meticulous preparation that goes into historical projects, collaborating with veteran director Nagabharana on Nadaprabhu Kempegowda

CE FEATURES

DAALI Dhananjaya, fresh off the success of Kotee, is all set to portray Kempegowda, in a role that promises to be as iconic as the historical figure himself. Titled Nadaprabhu Kempegowda, this period drama will be directed by Dr TS Nagabharana, a seasoned director known for his films like Bangarada Jinke, Janumada Jodi, and Kallarali Hoovagi. He is set to fulfil a long-cherished dream of directing this historical project, aiming to bring the legacy of Kempegowda to life to the big screen.

The excitement surrounding this project has reached new heights with the release of the first look of Dhananjaya in his grand avatar as the founder of Bangalore. Speaking to CE, Dhananjaya, who is excited about playing such a historical figure, shares, “I am thrilled to be the face of Kempegowda. Many dream of this role, but few get the opportunity to do so; I am fortunate to be one of them. This is Nagabharana’s dream project. We have been discussing it for years, and I took it seriously over the last year, where I worked hard on it. Playing Kempegowda, a visionary, is incredibly exciting. It’s not just luck to get such a project; it requires a lot of preparation.”

Dhananjaya, an avid reader who loves learning about great personalities, views Kempegowda as a visionary leader who built Bengaluru. “Through my discussions with Nagabharana, I learned that Kempegowda was also a great warrior who accomplished many significant works,” he said.

Currently, the team is in the preparation phase and plans to begin the project once Dhananjaya completes his current commitments. The Kotee actor is juggling shooting for Rohit Padaki’s Uttarakanda, which is aiming for a December release, and director Shankar Guru’s Anna from Mexico. He has also agreed to another historical project, Halagali, set in the British period, and going by his schedule, he plans to start with Nadaprabhu Kempegowda, in January 2025. “These projects require extensive preparation, and I am ready for the challenge,” he added.

Nadaprabhu Kempegowda, which has the tagline “Bengaluru Karanika (Man Behind Bengaluru), will be produced under the Isvara Entertainment and Daali Pictures banners. The film will be produced by MS Shivrudrappa and Shubham Gundala.

The film’s technical team includes the likes of music composer Vasuki Vaibhav, cinematographer Advaitha Gurumurthy, costume designer Nagini Bharana, and art director Shasidhara Adapa. The project is managed by Pannaga Bharana, who will serve as the executive producer.

Explaining why he chose to work with Nagabharana, Dhananjaya referred to a Kannada proverb that translates to “old roots, new shoots,” signifying the idea of building on established foundations while nurturing new growth. “Nagabharana has done extensive research on the project and incorporated inputs from historians to ensure authenticity. While Nagabharana is a veteran himself, he is bringing together a team of young talents, which is very promising,” Dhananjaya signs off.

CE FEATURES

IBBANI Tabbida Ileyali, the upcoming romantic drama from Rakshit Shetty’s Paramvah Studios, directed by Chandrajith Belliyappa, initially garnered attention for its captivating title. The film is now gearing up for release, and its first song is out. The music is composed by Gagan Baderia, who has come up with six songs. Among the songs, the heartfelt first single ‘Oh Anahita’ was released on June 21. According to the post by the makers, the song is a delicious stir of musical notes with the most heart-rending selection of words that define the magical act of falling in love. Chandrashekar Belliyappa, who has previously worked with Rakshit Shetty on Kirik Party and Avane Srimannarayana, marks his directorial debut with Ibbani Tabbida Ileyali. The film has wrapped up shooting, and post-production is underway.

Bridging ancient wisdom with present-day realities

A SHARADHAA

THE title Sambhavami Yuge Yuge draws a connection to ancient mythology, echoing Lord Sri Krishna’s pledge in the Bhagavad Gita to reincarnate across ages to uphold righteousness. Chetan Chandrashekar ingeniously intertwines this timeless mythos with the rustic backdrop of contemporary India, skillfully reimagining the epic saga of Arjuna and Krishna within the confines of a modern village.

At the heart of the narrative is Arjun (Jayaram Shetty), a young and dynamic leader who navigates the intricacies of the village panchayat with unwavering dedication. His initiatives to address fundamental needs like clean water and a cooperative dairy earn him the respect and admiration of the villagers. However, the arrival of DC Pratap (Pramod Shetty) disrupts this harmonious equilibrium, sparking a clash of egos that threatens the village’s progress. As tensions mount, the film compellingly examines whether Arjun’s visionary leadership can withstand external pressures or whether the village will succumb to unforeseen challenges. Amidst these trials, personal tragedies, such as the heartbreaking loss of his mother, test Arjun’s resilience and determination.

Arjun has lawyer Krishna (Ashok Kumar Balakrishnan) to stand by him through thick and thin. Director Chetan Chandrasekhar constructs a vivid rural milieu, seamlessly weaving mythological elements into the everyday lives of the villagers. His meticulous attention to detail immerses the audience in the struggles and triumphs of the characters, while also exploring overarching themes of governance, heroism, and the perennial clash between tradition and progress.

While Sambhavami Yuge Yuge stumbles with pacing issues and needs tighter execution, its rustic charm and storytelling might deeply connect with viewers who appreciate narratives rooted in the essence of rural India. The film strikes a balance of comedy, sentiment, and action, appealing to all kinds of audiences despite its minor imperfections.

The ensemble cast—including Nisha Rajput, Pramod Shetty, Sudharani, Bhavya, Madhura Gowda, Abhay Puneeth, Bala Rajwadi, and Ashwin Haasan—do whatever they can to help propel the story.

In conclusion, Sambhavami Yuge Yuge offers an exploration of enduring themes amidst contemporary challenges. It revitalises notions of heroism and governance, effectively bridging ancient wisdom with present-day realities.

A culinary journey fueled by the quest for belonging and respect

A SHARADHAA

CHILLI CHICKEN

Director: Prateek Prajosh

Cast: Shrunga BV, Bijou Thaangjam, Hirock Sonowal, Jimpa Sangpo Bhutia, Nithya Shri, and Harini Sundarajan

MORE than just a film, Chilli Chicken serves up a culinary mosaic that blends the diverse flavours of cultural backgrounds and personal stories, much like the aromatic spices and ingredients in a well-crafted dish. It is a symphony of tastes and traditions, resulting in something universally appealing yet distinctly individual at the same time. The title serves as a metaphor for the characters’ lives, each bringing their own unique flavour to the narrative.

As for the main course, Prateek Prajosh draws inspiration from a real-life incident in Bengaluru’s Frazer Town ten years ago, adding complexity to the story as well as highlighting social hierarchies and their disparate impacts on different characters. The film serves as a journey of flavours and dreams, focusing on five migrant workers from the North East: Khaba (Bijou Thaangjam), Ajoy (Victor Thoudam), the manager Jimpa (Jimpa Sangpo Bhutia), and Jason (Tomthin Thokchom), all working under Adarsh (Shrunga), the owner of a second-grade Indo-Chinese eatery named Noodle Home who dreams of opening a fine dining establishment. The film likens the aspirations of the characters to the meticulous preparation of chilli chicken, each step symbolising their convergence of cultures and traditions. However, their culinary journey takes a dark twist when a fatal incident takes place in the restaurant.

The film, which blends the spice of life, explores social hierarchies and aspirations. Adarsh envisions transforming Noodle Home into the upscale Noodle Palace, aiming to attract a wealthier clientele. Meanwhile, the North East staff aims for promotion in the form of respect and acceptance in a society that often marginalises them. Ajoy’s death becomes a catalyst for their shared struggles. As they navigate social hierarchies, both Adarsh and his employees face disparagement and obstacles, striving to achieve their dreams amidst a backdrop of cultural diversity and discrimination.

The film uses the preparation of chilli chicken as a poignant symbol for the convergence of cultures and the quest for dignity. It debunks stereotypes about North-East Indian cuisine, with Khaba revealing that chilli chicken is not a staple in Manipur, challenging audience misconceptions. Prajosh addresses racism and discrimination, depicting the casual racism faced by the Northeast community through scenes involving nosy neighbours and insensitive slurs. The film showcases the struggles migrants face in finding acceptance and a place to call home. There are also aromas of romance, and running parallel is Adarsh’s troubled love life and Ajoy’s relationship with Anu (Harini Sundararajan).

Despite its heavy themes on paper, the film maintains a light and comforting tone, shuffling between Kannada, North East regional languages, and English. Though Chilli Chicken grapples with its ambitious narrative threads, it treats every character with care and compassion. Siddharth Sundar’s soundtrack and Shrish Tomar’s cinematography capture the essence of Bengaluru’s gritty spaces and the look and feel of an Indo-Chinese restaurant.

Shrunga’s natural performance, following his debut in 19.20.21, showcases the stark reality of owning a restaurant and its inherent difficulties. Although limited screen time, Padmaja Rao’s portrayal of loan shark Kasi adds a unique flavour. The rest of the actors, mostly from the North East, bring authenticity to their roles, drawing from real-life restaurant experiences.

RATING 2.5/5

Call it rare culinary cinema: the flavour of Chilli Chicken subtly urges viewers to reflect on cultural acceptance and the universal quest for dignity. It sheds light on the characters’ quest for belonging and respect while exploring their intertwined journeys. Much like savouring the intricate layers of a well-prepared dish, the film that ignites cultural fusion and culinary ambitions offers a blend of spice, bitterness, and sweetness that lingers with you.
